DR. KING'S BODY MOVED TO PARK SITE

Workmen put the finishing touches on the crypt of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Tuesday morning. The crypt was moved from Southview Cemetery to the site of a memorial park near Ebenezer Baptist Church near downtown Atlanta.

The park will be officially inaugurated Thursday, which would have been King's 41st birthday. He was assassinated April 4, 1968, in Memphis, Tenn. King was co-pastor with his father of Ebenezer Church.

FOOD EFFORT STALLS

...Nigerian Spurns 'Blood Money'

Lagos, Nigeria (AP) — Nigeria's victorious federal leader, Maj, Gen. Yakubu Gowon, assailed international relief agencies Tuesday and a crisis built up over massive efforts to rush food to conquered Biafra.

"Let them keep their blood money," Gowon said in a radio interview. "We don't want their help or assistance. We will do it ourselves."

As the relief program stalled, 6,000 Biafran troops surrendered to the federal army in the first step toward abolishing Biafra as a secessionist political and geographic entity.

Moving In Slowly

Nigerian troops moved in slowly to occupy the remains of Biafra, and Biafran leader, Maj. Gen. Philip Effiong, appealed to federal commanders to stop them, claiming they were frightening civilians into fleeing.

Effiong urged military leaders not to forget the tension among his people that could easily turn into panic. "The federal advance is contributing to this fear," he said.

Gowon's outburst came when he was asked if Nigeria wanted aid from relief agencies like Joint Church Aid. The JCA had continued to fly supplies to Biafra, skirting a federal blockade.

Officials Annoyed

Other Nigerian officials, plainly annoyed by what they regard as outside interference in their affairs, said the government has all the food it needs, but the problem was getting it to the stricken areas.

They said all efforts to help the hungry must be channeled through government-approved agencies.

The chairman of the Nigerian Red Cross, Sir Adetokunbo Ademola, said Nigeria had too many offers of help from governments and agencies. "We don't need so much," he said, explaining that certain supplies were available locally or already on hand.

13,000 Tons Available

Red Cross officials said there were 13,000 tons of food already available, much of it high protein, and another 10,000 tons several days away.

An estimated four million Ibos and other tribesmen in the bush are believed in need of food and medical aid.

In Moscow, a Soviet government spokesman charged that Biafra's supporters abroad might try to prolong the war under the guise of sending famine relief missions.

Leonid Zamatin, head of the foreign ministry's press department, told a news conference that in the Soviet view this "so-called help is nothing more than interference in the domestic affairs of Nigeria."

Church Aid Suspends Airlift

©The New York Times

Sao Tome — The harrowing flight of the only plane known to have left Biafra since the secessionist state surrendered has convinced Joint Church Aid organization leaders here that no more planes can make the trip until there is a minimum of law and order.

This will cut off any further help Biafrans who have depended on the airlift.

"It's terrible, but there's nothing we can do without certain security," said the Rev. Thomas Cunningham.

Cunningham, spokesman for Joint Church Aid as well as a leader of Caritas, the Roman Catholic relief organization, explained that Tuesday's decision followed the chaos and risk that surrounded an airlift flight Monday night into the terror-ridden territory.

As soon as the relief plane landed, it was stampeded by hundreds of panic-stricken Biafrans who could only think of escape.

Forty-five Biafrans, including three who were badly injured, were hustled onto the DC6, but as the plane took off, machine gun fire rang out from the bush, damaging the fuel tank and the instrument panel and grazing the finger of pilot Tony Jonsson, an Icelander.

Proxies Are Challenged By State Demo Official

. . . IN ELECTION OF COMMITTEEMAN

By BASIL RAFFETY
Associated Press Writer

The validity of many of the proxies voted in the recent election for Nebraska Democratic national committeeman has been challenged by the chairman of the party's credentials committee.

Harold Blostein of Kearney said Tuesday "it is quite obvious there were many irregularities," and he cited various instances of what he said were departures from regular proxy procedures.

Blostein said there is a party rule permitting the use of proxies but the rule is "rather short and rather vague." He said it may be found advisable to eliminate the proxy rule altogether.

'More Proxies'

At a Dec. 14 meeting of the Democratic State Central Committee, Tom Kelley of Omaha defeated former state Democratic Chairman John C. Mitchell of Omaha for the post of national committeeman by a 53-49 vote. Blostein said there are "far more proxies than that (the victory margin) under serious question."

There were 58 central committee members who voted in person at the Grand Island meeting; 44 voted by proxy.

Blostein said he presented his report, compiled with the help of a private investigator, at a state Democratic executive committee meeting in Lincoln Saturday.

He also submitted a request signed by eight members of the state central committee requesting that the central committee consider the allegation of irregularities.

Panel To Be Named

He said a special meeting of the central committee was originally asked but it was subsequently agreed that a special committee would be named to study the report and present its findings to the central committee meeting to be held in Omaha in March.

Blostein told the Associated Press the alleged irregularities included such things as failing to submit the proxies to the state party headquarters in advance of the meeting, signing blank proxies or naming as proxy a person not known to the signer of the proxy. He said in some cases the forms prescribed by party rules were not followed and there were even photostats of proxies.

State Chairman Hess Dyas of Lincoln was to name the committee which will study Blostein's report and make proposals dealing with the alleged irregularities and "to future means of using proxies in Democratic Party proceedings."

Concern For Future

Blostein said his action conceivably could overturn the results of the election but "my primary concern certainly is that we not run into such problems in the future by clarifying the requirements and by seeing that they are met in the future or perhaps we ought to eliminate the proxy procedure altogether."

He said he assumed that those who joined him in petitioning the committee for an investigation "joined me in desiring reform for the future. If they had any additional motives they are not clear to me."

Reached in Omaha, Kelley said he, too, questioned the wisdom of using proxies, but he said any change in the rule would have to be made at a party convention. And he pointed out that proxies cannot be used at a convention.

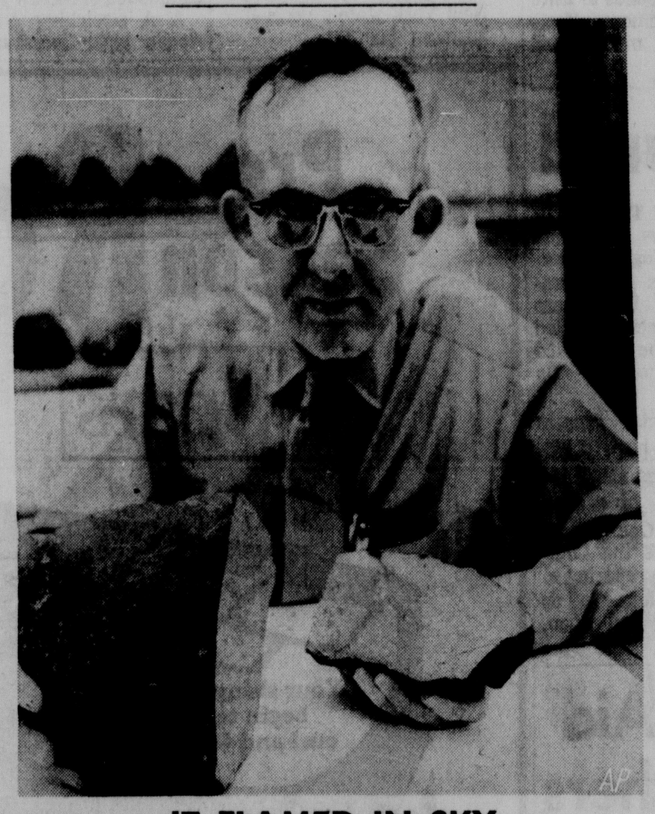

He said he doubted if the election would be overturned because the proxies "were signed by people who wanted to vote for me. The intention of the voter was taken care of. Any time you give somebody a blank check, that's the authority to write the name on it."

Not At Meeting

Mitchell said in Omaha he had not attended the executive committee meeting in Lincoln and had not seen a copy of Blostein's report.

"Until I see a full copy of the report and can review it, I would have to reserve comment. I am certainly interested," he said.

In Lincoln, Dyas said he hoped by the end of the week to appoint the proxies study committee. He noted that although the committee will report its findings to the executive board and the state central committee, any final changes in the proxies procedure will have to be made at a state party convention.

New Staffing Plan Urged For City's Public Schools

. . . TEAM APPROACH PROPOSED

By LUCILLE HOWARD
Star Staff Writer

A differentiated staffing plan that would increase the responsibilities and contract year, as well as pay, for many teachers in the Lincoln Public Schools while providing more individualized instruction for students was proposed to the Lincoln Board of Education Tuesday.

Suggestions for reassigning and increasing the professional staff to comprise three professional levels of teachers were outlined by a joint Lincoln Education Association-school board committee.

The committee, appointed as a result of salary negotiations for the 1969-70 school year, was directed to study and make recommendations concerning differentiated staff plans in which teachers would be paid on the basis of assignment, responsibility and length of contract year rather than on training and experience alone.

Team Approach

According to the committee's proposal, teachers would be divided into teams and assigned to various levels of responsibility within each team to direct the learning of a large group of students.

Through the team approach, activities that can be accomplished with students in large groups would free teachers to assist students in groups smaller than normal at other times, explained the committee chairman, Dr. Wesley Lauterbach. Pupil-teacher ratios would probably remain about the same as in the traditional system, he said.

Committee members repeatedly recommended that the new form of staffing only be adopted for individual buildings that clearly favor such a change.

The committee proposed that the professional staff be reassigned as coordinators, developers and facilitators.

Traditional Role

Facilitators would have full-time classroom duties and correspond in assignment and responsibility to the traditional classroom teacher with a nine-month contract.

While developers would have some teaching duties, they would also be responsible for assessing the needs, interests, talents and performance of students, and develop instructional materials and implement new programs. Developers would work 205 days, compared to the regular 190-day contract of teachers.

Coordinators, working 220 days, would participate in the teaching process but would be primarily involved in developing, implementing and evaluating the instructional program, developing and implementing in-service programs and assessing community needs and resources.

Separate Plans Urged

The committee developed illustrations for differentiating the staff in an elementary, junior high and high school, but emphasized that each building intending to change from the traditional system should develop its own plan.

No details were outlined for determining how teachers currently in the system would be assigned to the new levels of responsibility.

Board members took no action on the report, but had indicated in its proposals to the LEA for negotiations that recommendations of the group would be "useful in negotiating the board's proposal" for a differentiated staff salary schedule.

The plan will be presented to interested teachers at a district-wide meeting Jan. 23, it was announced.

City Gets Grant For Sewer Work

Lincoln will receive a federal grant of $896,000 for improvement of its sewer and water system, Rep. Robert V. Denney, announced Tuesday.

"We've knocked on every door including the White House and it has paid off," the First District congressman said.

The major portion of the Department Housing and Urban Development (HUD) grant will be allotted to the sanitary sewer relief line for Antelope Creek between 21st and M and 56th and Van Dorn.

The city had also requested, and apparently will also receive, federal funds for a relief trunk storm sewer from 29th and Leighton to 34th and Starr and a 30-inch water feeder main in 56th St. from Sumner to Old Cheney Rd.

Total costs for the three projects, as proposed in the city's application for federal aid, would be $1,974,780. The city, which will pay slightly more than one-half of that amount, has included in this year's budget the funds for its share.

"The critical need for this project, the overloaded conditions and health hazards, spurred my determinination to do everything possible to obtain this facility for Nebraska's capital," Denney said, commenting on the Antelope Creek relief line.

The city has been reluctant to approve new housing developments in part of the southeast area of the city because of the added burden of the developments on the sanitary sewer line.

Contacted HUD

The congressman noted that he had first contacted HUD officials early last spring in an attempt to coordinate efforts for approval of the long-awaited grant. The city had first applied for the grant in 1967.

"I urged that the project be given top priority for funding in the first quarter of fiscal year 1970," Denney said, "and periodic checks elicited a favorable response to the acceptability of the grant."

However, Denney said, he then received notification that the application did not rate high enough to be included in the final selection.

Suggestions from Nebraska Sens. Carl Curtis and Roman Hruska and Denney prompted the city to resubmit the application, and the city reapplied last October.

On Point System

"Funds are awarded on a point system based on community need, the city's ability to uphold its financial requirements and the number of HUD projects in the same district," Denney said.

Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf said he was elated that the city has finally received the funds. "It has been a long struggle," he said.

The mayor said that "with a tight housing market and with the growth the city has been showing, the projects will aid in the development of our much needed housing."

Army Consolidates Probe

Washington (AP) — The Army announced Tuesday it is consolidating at Ft. McPherson, Ga., except for two cases already ordered to trial, the investigation and eventual disposition of allegations in the alleged My Lai massacre.

An announcement said "the scope of the investigation and the number and scattered locations of possible witnesses, both military and civilian, led to the decision to consolidate disposition of this matter" under Lt. Gen. Albert O. Connor, commander of the Third Army.

As a result, an unspecified number of men who are either under investigation or are potential witnesses will be reassigned to Ft. McPherson or other Army installations nearby.

The case of 1st. Lt. William L. Calley Jr. and Staff Sgt. David Mitchell will remain at Ft. Benning, Ga., and Ft. Hood, Tex., respectively because their cases have progressed to a "point where transfer would be impractical," the Army said.

Calley faced a court-martial on charges of premeditated murder and Mitchell is due to be court-martialed on accusations of assault with intent to commit murder.

Republicans Shift Welfare Reform Tactics

Washington (AP) — The Nixon administration dropped as inadequate its soft-sell for welfare reform Tuesday and turned instead to public castigation of what it termed the intent of Congress to scuttle the proposal.

"This revolutionary proposal is being threatened with death by invisibility at the hands of a Congress apparently too preoccupied with other matters even to offer alternative proposals of its own, said Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Robert H. Finch.

In a speech to the National Press Club, Finch attributed a lack of national debate on welfare overhaul to confused hearings by the House Ways and Means Committee and to lukewarm support from national organizations, particularly organized labor.

Prevention Of Scuttling

The administration, he said, is faced with preventing "fundamental welfare reform, under the banner of the President's plan or any other plan, from being scuttled by Congress.

"If that sounds a bit defensive, it is meant to," Finch said. "For I would estimate the odds in Congress for any type of welfare reform are very, very bad today."

President Nixon proposes to replace the present dependent children's welfare program with a family assistance plan that would provide a federal income floor of $1,600 a year to a family of four. Such a family would receive food stamps worth an additional $720 a year.

Work Or Training

The plan ties aid to a work-or-training requirement for most recipients except mothers with small children, includes the working poor in coverage for the first time and provides a large measure of federal rather than state administration.

Family assistance would cost the government an additional $4.4 billion and increase the number of recipients from the current 10 million to 25 million.

Finch challenged Democrats to present their own welfare reform proposals so a national debate may begin.

He indicated administration willingness to compromise except on these "fundamental, nonnegotiable features": national income floor, coverage for the working poor, national eligibility standards, and some measure of federal administration.

Student Protests Studied

Washington — The first complete study done on student protests last year showed that most were nonviolent and did not interrupt college routine. The report, which covered 232 campuses, also showed that the so-called "new left" was less in evidence than thought and that protesters were concerned with campus conditions more than the Vietnam war.

Some Asian Leaders Want U.S. To Stay, Agnew Says

World News

Canberra, Australia (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said Tuesday some Asian leaders criticize for public consumption the U.S. presence in their nations but privately say they want the Americans to stay.

"Most of the general impressions that come out of the Asian governments are not as forthcoming as their private consultations," Agnew told reporters on the 5½-hour flight to Australia from Bali, Indonesia.

"They privately in official discussions indicate a very strong desire for continued American presence and assistance.

Local Politics

"But from time to time, and this does not apply to each government, some of them have a tendency for their local domestic political consumption to indicate they're less than infatuated with our being there."

Agnew mentioned no nations.

Small numbers of antiwar protesters and a group of supporters met Agnew as he arrived in Australia. He brought welcome news of a new meat import agreement and a warning against withdrawal from "the turbulence and uncertainties" of Asia.

4.4% Increase In Meat

pro-U.S. demonstration.

Agnew disclosed that an "agreement in principle" had been reached to increase by 4.4% the amount of meat that can be brought into the United States from such major producers as Australia and New Zealand.

The effect of the agreement would be to permit Australia, which has traditionally accounted for nearly 50% of U.S. meat imports, to provide 527.2 million pounds in 1970.

This compared with the 505 million pounds set by the 1969 quota and the 519.8 million Australia actually was permitted due to allocation of unused Canadian quotas.

For New Zealand, Agnew's next stop, which provides some 22% of the U.S. import market, the increase means sales to the United States can go up from about 218 million pounds to 227.6 million. The agreement affects beef, veal, lamb, mutton and goat meat.

FLAGGED DOWN

Mrs. Lawrence Hubner, 26, and mother of two, flew the flag upside down from her front porch in Wantagh, N.Y., Oct. 15 and Nov. 12 to show support for the Vietnam moratorium. Flying the flag upside down is a distress signal. Now Mrs. Hubner faces up to a year in prison and a $1,000 fine on charges of violating New York state's general business law.

Space Program Budget To Be Austere

Washington (AP) — The space agency announced Tuesday it plans to lay off about 50,000 employes, cut back Saturn rocket production and stretch out moon mission schedules.

The actions, along with postponement of a projected landing of unmanned spacecraft on Mars, are part of what the agency described as an austere but forward-looking program for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Thomas O. Paine, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, told a news conference that the program "contains the basic ingredients needed for an effective space program in the 1970s."

Paine said in support of decisions on the NASA budget for the next fiscal year, he had ordered these actions:

1. Suspension for an indefinite period of production of the Saturn V launch vehicle, the huge rocket used to send astronauts to the moon, after the completion of Saturn V 515.

2. A stretching out of the Apollo lunar missions to six months launch intervals, with deferment of lunar expeditions entirely during orbital flights of the Apollo Applications Program space station in 1972.

3. Postponement of launch of the Viking-Mars unmanned lander spacecraft from 1973 to the next Mars opportunity in 1975.

Paine noted that the closing of the NASA Electronics Research Center at Cambridge, Mass., already has been announced.

He estimated that the number of Americans working in NASA programs would decline from 190,000 as of next June 30 to about 140,000 at the end of June 1971.

He said President Nixon shortly will make an important statement on the future of America's space program.

Israelis Bomb Deep In Egypt

By The Associated Press

Tel Aviv (AP) — Israeli planes bombed military positions deep inside Egypt Tuesday for the second time in a week, the military command reported. One of the strikes was against an air force supply depot 14 miles from Cairo.

A spokesman said the planes encountered antiaircraft fire but returned safely after hitting the supply depot at El Khanqa, northeast of the Egyptian capital, and a major military base at Tel el Kabir about 30 miles west of Ismailia as well as targets along the central and northern sectors of the Suez Canal.

The Egyptian military command, in a Cairo radio broadcast, said only that Israeli planes attempted to hit the canal area but were driven off by Egyptian jets and antiaircraft fire.

Israeli planes pounded objectives in military and industrial complexes within 10 miles of Cairo last Wednesday, the Israelis reported. One of the military targets reported hit was Dahashur, about six miles south of the capital, where the Soviet Union is reported cooperating in a $1-billion expansion of a steelworks.

On the political front, the United States accused the Soviet Union of having caused a serious setback to efforts to find a peace formula in the Middle East by its "negative and retrogressive" attitude in rejecting eight of 10 major American proposals for an Egyptian-Israeli settlement.

The Russians, among other things, rejected the U.S. proposal for indirect peace talks through a third party. Moscow said the whole plan was "of a one-sided pro-Israeli nature."

Brand New Camp Captured

Saigon (AP) — American troops, pursuing a North Vietnamese force in foothills west of Tam Ky, captured a freshly built base camp Tuesday in an area where enemy troop concentrations have been reported.

The battle occurred in the same area about 31 miles southeast of Da Nang where U.S. soldiers killed 46 enemy in three sharp battles a day earlier.

Field reports said many of the North Vietnamese appeared to have deserted the camp before the Americans arrived. Seven enemy soldiers were reported killed. There was no mention of U.S. casualties.

American air and artillery strikes destroyed 26 bunkers inside the camp and an attacking force of the Americal Division's 196th Brigade blew up another 15 bunkers.

"The bunker complexes were probably no more than two weeks old because the timber was freshly cut and the dirt was still loose," said Pfc. James Trice, Tupelo, Miss.

The bunkers were connected by a maze of trenches and tunnels. Each had about six feet of overhead cover. A number of lookout positions had been set up in trees. Two machine-gun positions were destroyed.

The camp was located about five miles west of Tam Ky in what is known as Pineapple Forest, an enemy staging center.

In recent weeks concentrations of North Vietnamese soldiers have been spotted moving through the area and heading north toward Da Nang.

In Saigon, official sources reported there had been 12,000-15,000 truck sightings along the Ho Chi Minh trail in eastern Laos last month. One source said there are signs the Communist command is preparing to give itself the option "to do something. How big and when, we don't know."

Sealed Orders From Mitchell Aid In Investigation Of Black Panthers

San Francisco (AP) — A team of Justice Department lawyers operating under sealed orders from Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell is aiding a federal grand jury here in a broad-scale investigation of the national Black Panther Party.

The scope of the inquiry has been expanded significantly since it began last May, according to government sources who would not allow use of their names. They said it centers at present on the party's finances and activities of its members.

Evidence being presented to the jury, these sources said, concerns possible violations of the federal riot conspiracy law and of the controversial Smith Act, which prohibits advocating violent overthrow of the government or call for revolution through assassination of public officials.

The Panthers have their national headquarters in nearby Berkeley.

U.S. Atty. Cecil F. Poole said the investigation is being handled by five attorneys from the Justice Department's criminal division in Washington.

"They sent them in without prior warning to me or consultation," Poole said in an interview. "Whatever they say they're doing, they're out to get the Black Panthers."

A Justice Department spokesman in Washington responded: "We're not out to get any group."

Poole said similar grand jury probes are under way in Chicago and New Haven, Conn.

Chappaquiddick Will Not Be Issue, Says GOP Candidate

Boston (AP) — A Republican leader who announced his candidacy Tuesday for the GOP nomination to oppose Sen. Edward M. Kennedy said he hopes the senator's auto accident on Chappaquiddick Island will not be a campaign issue.

Josiah A. Spaulding, 47, a lawyer who has never held public office, went before newsmen and 50 supporters to announce for the Senate seat, which Kennedy is seeking to retain in this year's election.

"I suppose it's hurt him," said Spaulding of Kennedy's auto accident and resulting legal problems. "But I don't think it should be an issue."

Spaulding, who stepped down as chairman of the GOP State Committee late last year to prepare the way for his candidacy, challenged Kennedy to "face-to-face" debates, but said he did not think the senator would accept.

Spaulding charged Kennedy "deals through big unions, big city machines, big business and big concentrations of power."

Mississippi Chief Asks Legislature To Support Public, Private Schools

Jackson, Miss. (AP) — Gov. John Bell Williams asked the legislature Tuesday to support both public schools and the private schools which sprang up when public schools were desegregated.

But he said, "We must face the fact that public schools remain the most practical means of providing mass education. Private schools will have to be supplementary . . ."

As the governor addressed the joint session, a three-judge federal court in Washington was suspesding the tax-exempt status for Mississippi private schools that discriminate against Negroes.

The court's order remains in effect until a decision is reached on a suit filed by five Negro families asserting that the tax exemptions amount to federal aid to segregated schools.

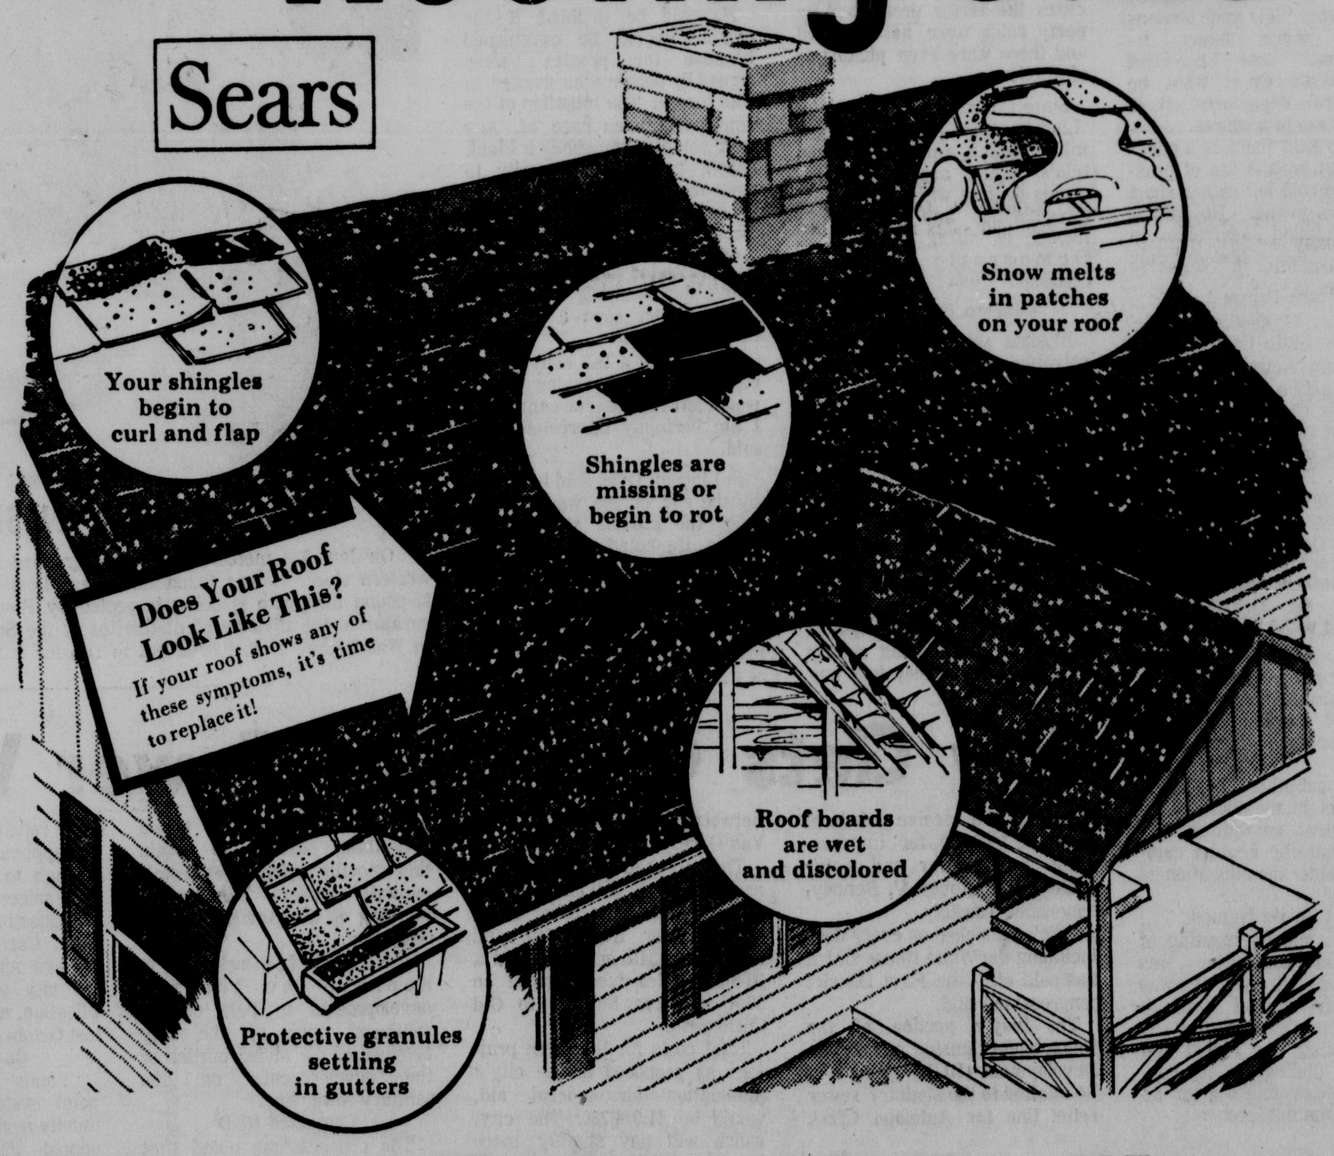

Informed of the court's ruling after he completed his speech, Williams said most private schools were not really organized to evade desegregation, but "rather for the purpose of insuring the pupils will be given a quality education in circumstances conducive to learning."

Full desegregation of schools in many Mississippi districts was ordered by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Eutrophication Study Support Pledged

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Federal officials Tuesday pledged to make technical assistance available if the state wishes to undertake a study of eutrophication in the proposed Platte River dam and reservoir.

The dam will be fed by "exceedingly fertile" waters, Dr. Fritz Bartsch, director of the U.S. Department of Interior's Pacific Northwest Water Laboratory at Corvallis, Ore., told a meeting of state water officials.

Data already available indicates that the Platte contains "concentrations of nitrogen and phosphorus," Bartsch said, and it is fed by drainage from "exceedingly fertile land."

The fertile drainage is augmented by hundreds of thousands of cattle on feed in the watershed, it was noted.

'Ample Opportunity'

There would be "ample opportunity" for nutrients in the proposed reservoir to reach levels beyond which significant eutrophication could occur, Bartsch noted.

But, he pointed out, he does not know enough about the Platte dam proposal at this time to offer any predictions as to whether the level of eutrophication would be excessive.

"I really don't know very much about this proposal," he said. "I am offering no prognostication."

However, Bartsch said, he would be "interested in seeing prognostic work done" on the eutrophication problems involved in the proposed $500 million project.

"We would make our services available," he promised.

If requested, the Federal Water Pollution Control Administration is prepared to "respond with technical assistance" in such a study, Carl Chloupek, FWPCA area representative, told state officials.

Warren Fairchild, executive secretary of the Nebraska Soil and Water Conservation Commission, said the state is seeking "the best information and guidance available" in its review of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers proposal for the Platte dam.

The Corps, he said, wants the state to take a formal and final position on the proposal by the end of 1971 or early in 1972.

Eutrophication, as roughly defined by Bartsch, is the nutrient enrichment of water which results in an array of symptomatic changes, including the excessive production of algae and other vegetation, in turn resulting in deterioration of water quality.

In its more advanced stages, eutrophication can turn bodies of water into a form resembling green pea soup, Bartsch said. The water, at that point, may produce a heavy stench, he noted.

The final stages gradually turn lakes back into land, he said.

State Game and Fish Commission Director Mel Steen said he does not object to "a reasonably high level of nutrients" in water because that is good for fish and waterfowl production.

"I don't object to an abundance of growth of algae and plant life," Steen noted. "I like it. My job is producing fish."

The level of phosphorus in Nebraska's waters, while far above the levels which Bartsch said could enduce significant eutrophication, has not produced "obnoxious" eutrophication in its lakes, Steen said.

Carbon More Significant

Carbon might be a more significant element in the eutrophication process, he suggested.

Steen said there is disagreement among people as to when unacceptable levels of eutrophication are reached.

"But there is no basis for any assumption that this (Platte reservoir) would be an obnoxious body of water," he insisted.

The eutrophication question is "the most pressing, complicated and difficult water quality problem we face as a nation," Bartsch said.

The U.S. needs to devote "intense brainstorming" and a greater share of its funding resources to the problem, he declared.

Change In Auditorium Liquor Policy Proposed

Pershing Auditorium Manager Ivan Hoig Tuesday urged that consumption of alcohol be permitted on one level of the auditorium even if minors are present on the other level.

Present policy forbids the serving of alcohol if minors are in the building.

Hoig told members of the Auditorium Advisory Board at the board's monthly meeting that "minors attending an event in the arena would not be permitted to enter into the exhibition area if alcohol were served."

"The arena and exhibition hall are two separate areas," Hoig noted.

Majority Approve

A majority of the board members expressed approval of the idea, providing there was adequate policing to bar minors from those events where liquor is becng consumed. Hoig said he would be glad to make sure adquate policing is provided.

The auditorium manager said such a policy would aid in attracting business, explaining that a group wanted to hold a function on a certain date might go elsewhere if the other floor is rented for a public event.

The board decided to request a legal opinion from the law department on whether the limits could be confined to a particular floor.

Board Chairman Dick Chapin said he feels that the word "auditorium" would apply to the entire building. "I still feel a license is the answer. But it (a license) does not stand a chance at City Hall," Chapin said.

Lease Agreement

Hoig distributed to board members a supplemental lease agreement which outlines the conditions under which a group may serve liquor.

The agreement states that the lessee assumes complete responsibility for governing the consumption and distribution of alcoholic beverages and that the city can terminate the lease agreement and demand immediate withdrawal of the lessee from the auditorium if the terms of the supplemental agreement are violated.

Hoig also announced that the Ice Capades will return in 1970 in the latter part of August. Show officials originally had not planned an Ice Capades show in Lincoln in 1970. The 1969 show was marked by poor attendance.

DUKE TELLS IT AGAIN

The Duke of Windsor, shown here with his wife, said that a collision with the British establishment was inevitable if he had remained king — even if he had never met Wallis Warfield Simpson. The ex-King Edward VIII was interviewed in Paris by the BBC where he said that his ideas about the role of the British monarch constituted an invitation to trouble. The duke abdicated the British throne so that he could marry Mrs. Simpson, an American divorcee.

Capt. Ryan, 29, Ex-Omahan Said Missing In Plane Crash

Hamilton Air Force Base, Calif. (AP) — The son of the Air Force chief of staff and his copilot have been listed as missing in the crash of a F4 Phantom fighter-bomber into San Pablo Bay.

The crash occurred near here Monday. Aboard the plane were Capts. John D. Ryan Jr., pilot, and J. Travis Nelson, copilot, both assigned to the 49th Tactical Fighter Wing at Holloman Air Force Base, N.M.

Capt. Ryan, a former Omahan, is a 1958 graduate of Creighton Prep High School in Omaha, Neb., where he was a center on the football team, and a member of the track squad. He also attended Creighton University.

Ryan, 29, is the son of Gen. John D. Ryan, U.S. Air Force chief of staff and former commanding general of the Strategic Air Command headquartered in Omaha. The younger Ryan is the father of a small son.

Nelson, also 29, a bachelor, has parents living in Cedar City, Utah.

The Air Force said the two were en route back to Holloman on the second leg of a training flight.

Robert Barragan, skipper of a party fishing boat, said he looked up when he heard "what sounded like a bomb going off. I had heard a pair of jets go over and then I heard this big explosion, I looked up and saw a ball of smoke and fire over the water. I didn't see any parachutes."

Lee Newspaper Publishers Meet To Study Operations

Davenport, Ia. — Publishers and business managers of newspapers operated by Lee Enterprises, Inc., were here Tuesday for a study of company operations prior to the company's annual meeting of stockholders on Thursday.

The study is part of the company's continued and planned use of computers in newspaper production and other general paper work.

The meeting Thursday will be the first for stockholders since the company last March made a public stock offering. Shares are sold over the counter, but the company has applied for an American Stock Exchange listing.

Adler To Retire

Stockholders will elect nine members to the company's board of directors, and the board meeting later in the day will name officers. Philip D. Adler, company president, plans to retire in 1970 as publisher of the Times-Democrat and has requested that he not be renominated as a director.

Lee operates 17 newspapers in the Midwest and Montana and Oregon, including The Lincoln Star, and also three broadcast divisions, including television and AM and FM radio facilities. The company's central office is located in Davenport (Ia.).

According to David K. Gottlieb, executive vice president and general manager, the company expects to report higher earnings and sales for the 1970 fiscal year.

While declining to estimate earnings, Gottlieb said the company budget calls for earnings and sales growth similar to fiscal 1969 increase of 19%. He said he felt it was too early to predict this rate of gain would be attained.

'Good First Quarter'

"We've had a very good first quarter, which is our biggest one ordinarily, and our business is continuing good," Gottlieb said. "But most economists are talking about business softening in the first half this year, so we have to be a little uncertain about what's ahead."

Gottlieb also said that the company is planning major expansions and modernization of existing facilities.

"We expect to talk to at least two publishers of West Coast papers soon and possibly others later on," he reported.

Last year Lee acquired the Corvallis (Ore.) Gazette-Times, and in December completed acquisition of the remaining 27% interest in the Racine (Wis.) Journal-Times.

4 Escape Injury As Fire, Blast Level Building

Pender (UPI) — Four employes escaped injury Tuesday when an explosion and fire destroyed a building leased by Rink Enterprises, a parts and equipment manufacturing firm here.

Fire departments from Thurston, Emerson, Bancroft and Pender answered the 1:25 p.m. alarm in the building one block north of the Pender business district.

Witnesses said a series of explosions preceded the fire.

Pender Fire Chief Henry Von Seggern said the blaze consumed three antique automobiles and a 1970 model Lincoln auto in addition to the half-block long wood and concrete structure.

He said the fire was caused by sparks from a welding torch which ignited a tank of paint.

Von Seggern said Warren Burmaster, in charge of the employes in the building, attempted to extinguish the blaze but the water froze up and he was forced to leave the building.

For the first time since Dec. 25, temperatures in downtown Lincoln climbed above the freezing mark.

The Weather Bureau forecast for Wednesday included an expected high in Lincoln in the mid to upper 30s.

EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Integration of southern schools is currently producing some significant actions. In Atlanta, an appeals court judge has temporarily delayed the integration of school faculties. Under this program, every school faculty must reflect the population split as between whites and blacks.

This is a concept that appears to be relatively new on the scene and calculated to produce about as much trouble as the student integration movement. With both student and faculty integration, the southern schools would end up more mixed than probably any other schools in the nation.

In Mississippi, the system being destroyed is one which called for integration as a matter of residence. In other words, schools in dominantly black areas contained mostly black children and schools in dominantly white areas contained mostly white children.

This is no longer permitted in Mississippi and, again, it means a further integration there than is the case in most schools throughout the nation. In most cities, regardless of their geography, residence determines the attendance site of the children.

This is the case in Lincoln, for instance, where white and black attendance would reflect the living patterns of the two races. If they did in Lincoln what they are doing in Mississippi, we would have to be bussing a lot of children from one place to another.

If we were forced into faculty integration, it could be quite a problem. We doubt very much that black teachers are present in Lincoln public schools in numbers equal to the proportion of black population in the city. And we doubt that they are distributed with any forethought as to equal representation.

What is happening is a reversal of an old theory or saying that the ends do not justify the means. In this case, the end is integration and the means are a concoction of force and artificiality.

★

But the problem is that there isn't much of any other way to get the job done. If you let nature take its course, segregation would be continued in the South due to the simple reality of residence.

While we have open housing laws at the federal level, it will be a long time before they make much difference in the residency patterns of the South between the races. Thus, the barriers of residence would continue to be an effective barrier to integration if nature were left to take its course.

The South, in some areas, has fallen back on a new plan of action to avoid integration. In many areas where blacks are a majority, the whites are establishing private schools where the law's long arm cannot reach them.

And this immediately raises a question as to public aid for such schools. It is reported that tuition being paid to private schools is being taken as an income tax deduction in the South.

★

Certainly, this is illegal and we fail to see how the IRS could permit such a thing. Tuition paid to a private school, church-related or otherwise, is not tax deductible. There may be some subterfuges being practiced in this area of things but the law, nevertheless, does not permit tax relief for private school tuition payments.

Additionally, black leaders have said that some southern school officials are siphoning off public school funds and facilities for the assistance of the new private schools. They have asked for a Justice Department investigation of the matter.

To date, the new private schools have said nothing about direct public aid but one wonders if it will come. If it does, it will just about be the death knell for the traditional forms of public aid to private schools that have been proposed in recent years.

In plain words, you could not give public aid to a private Catholic or Lutheran school anywhere without giving public aid to any other private school. The fact that the one private school may be established as a dodge to integration has no legal bearing on the matter.

It is a development likely to cloud the issue of public aid to church-related private schools.

'Is There A Referee In The House?'

Political Fortunes Change

A star can rise fast and fall fast in the political world, as witnessed by the changing fortunes of Mayor Joseph Alioto of San Francisco.

In 1968, Alioto, a wealthy lawyer turned mayor, nominated Hubert Humphrey for the presidency in a spectacular speech before the Democratic convention and was hailed as an emerging political force on the national scene. For the past year, he has been regarded as an unannounced candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor of California.

Monday, that all changed. Alioto announced he would not seek to challenge Gov. Ronald Reagan "this time around." While regarding Reagan as beatable and while not ruling out future involvement in politics, the San Francisco mayor took himself out of contention for the governorship and a bruising Democratic primary fight with State Assembly Chairman Jess Unruh. The move is all Alioto really could do in the face of recent events and it probably is good for the Democrats, who now stand only a miniscule chance of unseating Reagan.

"I simply can't fulfill my obligation as mayor, prosecute a landmark suit against an infamous libel and run for governor without jeopardizing each effort for the other," he declared in his statement. He said he will prosecute vigorously his $12 million suit against Look magazine for an article last year which linked him with Mafia characters. It is also alleged by opponents that he split fees with Washington state officials in past anti-trust actions.

Politics is a fickle game and as Sen. Kennedy has found, it's tough to stay on top. Alioto is just another example.

New High For Credit Cards

Apparently through local option, many taxpayers around the country will be permitted this year to pay their federal income tax with a credit card. Who would ever have thought that we would come to the easy payment plan for income taxes?

One wonders if maybe Uncle Sam might not come up with a whole new approach to things one of these days. Maybe the government will offer citizens a program, such as a new library, that can be bought with nothing down and low monthly payments.

If you want a new arterial street or a policeman on the beat, the taxpayers involved simply agree to pay so much a month for 18 or 24 months. But it doesn't have to go that far to be already a major breakthrough for the credit card business.

It is not fantasy to wonder if the day will not come when money is a thing of the past. Maybe your employer will simply deposit to your account in the bank your weekly earnings and you will conduct your business on credit against that account.

It would all be done automatically, of course, through accounting procedures done with computers at the bank. It could get to the point where people hardly ever saw any real money. Already, most people deal far more with fund transfers than with cash through automatic withdrawals at the bank.

Once the system switches completely away from cash, people will need a new psychology. If cash is required and you don't have it, it's easy not to spend. But if an account number can get you whatever you want, the temptation is pretty great.

It could be the doom of the plain old robber who would find merchants with a lot of stubs with numbers on them but no cash drawer with anything in it.

JAMES RESTON

The Rogers Formula

WASHINGTON — For the last month, the United States and Israeli governments have been fussing with one another over Secretary of State Rogers's formula for settling the Middle East crisis. Washington is appealing to the world to see that Rogers' formula is fair and reasonable. Israel is arguing that the formula is unreasonable and even dangerous, and this leaves most people in an awkward position, because they don't know what the Rogers' formula is.

Every few days now, we are being told by some Israeli official that the U.S. is trying to "impose" a settlement on the Middle Eastern nations; that Rogers has been "drawing a map" for the future of the area and leaving nothing to be negotiated by the parties concerned; that the Rogers' formula was incompatible with the sovereignty of Israel and undermining the principles of the charter of the United Nations.

Meanwhile, Secretary Rogers has been spending a good deal of his time in the last few weeks explaining to Zionist leaders in the U.S. that this is not true, writing letters, receiving delegations, answering questions, and in other ways trying to defend his position.

All this uses up a great deal of time and energy and doesn't seem to calm the controversy. The U.S. and Israel differ about the Middle East crisis because their national interests differ in many ways. Tel Aviv is not going to accept the Rogers formula and Washington is not going to accept the Israeli government's formula, but at least they ought to be able to make clear what they are disagreeing about.

It is hard enough to live with the unavoidable conflicts between nations, but to put up with avoidable stupidities is intolerable. The Rogers formula is not some vague or casual suggestion. It has been put on paper and widely circulated. It may be sensible or silly, but least it is precise and should be published, so that the people who are being asked to have a judgment on it will have the facts.

☆ ☆ ☆

This is not one of those cases where publicity will embarrass or confound diplomacy. All the documents in the Rogers formula have been made available to Israel and the United Arab Republic, and to the Soviet Union, Britain, France, Italy, the Netherlands, Denmark, Jordan, Morocco, Tunisia, Syria, Saudi Arabia — and also, among others, to Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia, who is going to see President Nasser in Cairo next month.

So why the secrecy? The Rogers speech on the subject last month on the Middle East and the State Department documents in the case were discussed in the National Security Council in the White House and approved personally by President Nixon before they were circulated.

Almost everybody concerned and a lot of others have the documents except the people and Congress of the U.S., and the peoples in Israel, the U.A.R., the other Arab states and the Soviet Union.

☆ ☆ ☆

The result is that governments are left free to interpret the facts as they like and even the editors of the newspapers in Tel Aviv, Amman, London, Paris, Rome, the Hague, Copenhagen and many other places don't really know what the U.S. government proposed.

Accordingly, the comment on the controversy is based most of the time on a variety of official "leaks" out of a great many capitals. The Israelis, disillusioned by their experience with John Foster Dulles in the 1957 Middle Eastern crisis, are giving the impression that Secretary Rogers is trying to "impose" a settlement on them, whereas he has actually proposed to leave the main questions of boundaries, refugees, and security, to negotiation between the Israelis and the Arabs.

As a result, even the common interests of the U.S. and Israel are now being blurred by the peripheral arguments over Secretary Rogers' proposals. Beyond the Rogers formula are the real questions of Middle East security and the balance of power in the eastern Mediterranean between the Soviet Union and the U.S.

But this larger question of power at the crossroads of the continents of Europe, Africa and Asia is not going to be discussed seriously until the underbrush of these secondary questions is cleared away. And all the fuss about Secretary Rogers and his proposals will not be cleared away until the documents are published.

PHYLLIS BATTELLE

Some Of The Good In 'Good Ol' Days'

NEW YORK — They say when a person starts thinking about the good old days, he's becoming either obsolete or maladjusted. Well, there are a lot of us who are just obsolete enough to realize it's not much fun to be "adjusted" to 1970's wars, crime rates, taxes, uncivil rights, obscenities and inflation — and who just don't give a hoot (as we used to say). Do you remember:

How doctors used to come to the house when all you had was a common cold?

When on rainy days in summer you could walk barefoot in the gutters, and your feet didn't even get dirty?

When men used to tip their hats if they met women on the street?

And girls used to live at home until they got married?

People had dogs that weren't fashionable and, if they didn't know exactly what it was, they said it was a Spitz?

Pennies bought a lot of things?

They made furniture and rugs and cribs and cars that didn't wear out for years?

Women wore galoshes, real ugly ones that never heard of Harper's Bazaar, and their feet stayed warm and never got wet inside?

☆ ☆ ☆

Remember the scissors-grinder, and the I-Cash-Clothes Man?

And the bakery cart with a horse and wonderful smells that you could hop aboard and buy a doughnut for one cent?

If you got sick, some woman in the neighborhood would bring over a casserole and cup custard?

Do you recall how boys all wanted to be president of the United States, and families flew American flags in the front yard on holidays?

And homes had front porches and back porches and side porches and screened-in porches.

Girls exchanged autographed photos of movie stars, and took sandwiches wrapped in wax paper to the movies on Saturdays, and stayed to see the same film three times?

When you had a painted turtle?

☆ ☆ ☆

Remember wedgies? And slave bracelets? And crinoline underskirts because the bigger your skirt was, the prettier you looked?

When people took milk of magnesia instead of tranquilizers, and psychoanalysis wasn't even in the latest dictionaries?

And mothers relied on grandmothers' judgment instead of Dr. Spock's?

And children took elocution, piano and dancing lessons whether they wanted to or not?

Remember dancing real close to your partner? And getting gardenias (nobody touch them now; they turn brown) for the junior prom?

How little girls used to think if they kissed a boy, they might get pregnant?

And how little boys made rubberband guns with cardboard bullets, pipe-cleaner people and soap box racers, instead of pleading for toys they'd seen on TV?

When women who used four-letter words were called tramps?

When the only easily available dirty books were the ones you'd dropped in the mud coming home from the library?

Do you recall when the neighborhood pastor helped you decide your deepest problems?

When on Trick or Treat night, if you wanted candy, you had to sing a song or recite a poem?

When men and children stood up to give ladies their seats, and families lived in the same house for 50 years, and the policeman was respected, and your grocer saved things for you and if you didn't have money he'd trust you till next week?

And you knew absolutely everyone in your neighborhood, including their dogs, Lad and Prince?

They weren't really the good old days. The poor were too poor, the rich were too rich, the minorities were too oppressed, and the middle class was too uninformed.

But there were some values worth keeping that have been lost, and some shenanigans worth chuckling over because their innocence will never return. And once in awhile for only a moment, when today's headlines are too black, it is comforting to look over your shoulder—even if what you see is some sneaky little rascal writing "kick me" on your back.

BOB CONSIDINE

Entertainer Hope With A New Task

PALM DESERT, Cal. — Bob Hope has become a national resource, like our uranium deposits let's say. Or Hoover Dam.

He is our West Coast's prime distributor of energy. At the moment, being fresh back from knocking his brains out entertaining troops in Vietnam, he is beaming his torrents of talent at the task of filling New York's Waldorf-Astoria's Grand Ballroom January 27 for a $1,000 a plate dinner for the erection of the first buildings of the Eisenhower Memorial Research Center.

Bob approached Jack Benny and asked him to take a table—$10,000.

"Hummmnnn," Jack said. "And what is it a plate?"

"A thousand bucks."

"Let me think a bit," Benny said. "I'll tell you what, Bob. I'll come by for dessert."

Hope works hardest when there's nothing in it for himself. He has flown a criss-cross pattern across the U.S. to make this dinner unique, no small goal in a city that has one or more huge ones a night. He will m.c. the show, of course, but it will not be a walk-on job. Hope has been working on this project a long time.

I asked him how it all began.

"Association with the General," he said of his late great friend and golfing companion. "Also the area around Palm Desert has needed a hospital for some time. We'll start out with 128 beds, but when it's finished it will be much more than a general hospital. We'll have a research center for emphysema and all the other respiratory diseases, and for athritis. Ike was enthusiastic about it when we first began kicking the idea around.

"Dolores (Hope) was the first president of the group. They looked for a long time for a good site. Some liked one spot, others liked another. I let 'em look, knowing what was going

One day Dolores said, 'Why don't you simplify things? Give us those 80 acres you own near Thunderbird, Tamarask and El Dorado.' What was there to say?"

"I'm punching hard on this because if we build the first phase right now, we can do it for $5.5 million," Hope told us. "But we've got to hurry. If we delay it only a short time, the same buildings will cost $7 million. Eventually, it will be maybe a $20-million layout, a care and research center something like New York's great Memorial-Sloan Kettering, which is, of course, for the care and study of cancer."

☆ ☆ ☆

Ground was broken a month ago. This ceremony turned out to be something of a surprise for Hope.

"I learned that the official name of the place where we were digging was not Palm Desert," he said the other day. "It is Rancho Mirage, and I've got the diploma to show for it. I was made an honorary resident by the Rancho Mirage Chamber of Commerce — two fellows and a lizard."

Mutual Fund Operators Enjoy Excessive Rates; SEC Outmaneuvered On Corrective Legislation

WASHINGTON — A powerful, unpublicized lobby has been working in the backrooms of Congress to let mutual fund operators feed greedily on millions of small investors.

There are five million mutual fund shareholders, many of them salting away a few hundred dollars a year for a child's college or for retirement. Millions more belong to pension funds and investor groups which own mutual securities.

For years, the mutual fund operators have been getting away with outrageous overcharges. By the industry's own dubious figures, investors paid out a shocking $190 million in advisory fees alone during the 1969 fiscal year.

Contract investors, who comprise about 10 per cent of the mutual fund shareholders, often pay 15 to 50 per cent of their investment to the voracious fund hustlers. Mutual funds with reasonable fees have either failed or had a hard time operating, because salesmen openly scorn the lower commissions.

Last year, the Securities and Exchange Commission made a timid attempt to give the poor shareholders a break. It endorsed legislation that would protect the investors from paying unreasonable fees and permit them to collect refunds for overpayments.

But the mutual fund lobbyists got busy in the backrooms to outmaneuver the SEC. An outraged SEC Chairman Hamer Budge came close to accusing them of an outright "double cross" in their dealings with the commission.

He specifically named the Investment Company Institute and the Association of Mutual Fund Plan Sponsors, which represent 90 per cent of the $55 billion in mutual fund assets in the United States. Their lobbyists, cool and convivial, demonstrated their quiet skill at wheeling and double-dealing.

☆ ☆ ☆

Here's the backstage story of how they put the screws to the SEC and the small investors:

In the past, the SEC had failed to curtail the mutual fund operators' runaway fees because of the magic they were able to work on Capitol Hill. But public pressure built up last year for reforms.

The powers in Congress advised the SEC, in effect, to work up legislation that would mollify the public but still be acceptable to the mutual fund operators. Last April, the SEC sat down with the brilliant president of the ICA, Robert Augenblick, to try to reach some agreement.

In long days of talks, the SEC gave up one point after another. But finally, the SEC thought it had an agreement with Augenblick and other industry representatives that they would not block a bill, which would give shareholders a right to sue for fair fees and would make a few other reforms.

Word of the "agreement" reached the Senate, which assumed that the securities industry would not oppose the weak measure and, therefore, passed it unanimously.

Months passed before House hearings were set for November 12. Two days before the hearings, Augenblick informed a dumfounded Budge that the mutual fund operators now also wanted a self-regulation clause in the bill. The effect of this would be to nullify meager reforms.

☆ ☆ ☆

Budge had been so sure his agreement with the industry was solid that he had mimeographed his testimony and had sent advance copies to the House committee, telling of the SEC agreement with the mutual fund men. Now, he was obliged to summon his aides to the office on November 11, the Veterans Day holiday, to help him rush out a rewrite.

Later Budge bitterly denounced the mutual fund representatives for welshing on their agreement.

Reached by this column, spokesmen for both the big mutual fund groups denied vehmently and at some length that they were double-crossing the SEC. David Grayson, speaking for the Mutual Fund Plan Sponsors, told my associate, Leslie Whitten, that it was all a "misunderstanding."

Explained Augenblick: "With the passage of time, it seemed that the self-regulation provision was worth having."

Under self-regulation, the mutual fund operators have been charging exorbitant fees and have been growing fat on the payments of their customers. Salesmen have tried to justify the avaracious fees with the claim that they are selling "security." But the sorry performance of the average fund in 1969 belies all talk of "security."

It can be demonstrated statistically that a blindfolded man with a dart and a list of stocks would have done better, in many cases, than did the mutual fund operators.

Meanwhile, the mutual fund reforms are languishing in the House Commerce and Finance Subcommittee while the SEC tries to work out another agreement with the glib operators.

Wintery days and snow in the high Sierra. I saw a robin sitting on the telephone line this morning blowing on his claws.

It is too early for robins. Robins migrate here in the time of a blooming berry. The robin has a little built-in still in his stomach. When he eats the berry it becomes cooking sherry.

Our red-breasted friend gets drunk as a lord.

The berries are not due for a couple of months. This robin must be a lush, waiting for the bar to open.

Here is a small check in the mail. It comes from some oil stock. Not much, just enough so I can read the financial page and say, "Hmmm."

I got this stock because somebody said the people were on the edge of hitting a big pool of oil.

If you have oil, the government loves you. They cannot do enough for you. They let you take all kinds of money off your income tax.

This company is still looking for oil. I keep the stock because the President writes such cheery letters.

☆ ☆ ☆

The President says they have leased a new drilling area. He is cautious but hopeful.

"This one oil prospect if productive could easily replace all the oil so far produced on our other property during the past 35 years. So you see we are playing for h i g h, very high stakes . . . May the gods smile on us."

That is a cheery fellow. A Texan. The oil company is in Houston.

Meantime he sends me a check for $20. C h e e r f u l greetings and a double sawbuck. That's the way to start the day.

☆ ☆ ☆

We are in the midst of housebreaking a puppy. This is interesting because so many people get into the act.

They phone and say, "You should take him out just after he's been fed. Walk him around for 10 minutes."

Small pups eat four times a day. Once at 10 at night. And baby, at 10 at night it's cold outside!

He doesn't care much for it and it's murder for me.

☆ ☆ ☆

The people who give this advice do not go out in the cold night. They sit on the warm telephone giving sage counsel.

They said: "Cover the floor with newspapers. Then take away one newspaper each day — the dog prefers newspapers." (How do they know? Maybe this dog prefers TV and Walter Cronkite.)

They said: "Finally you are down to one newspaper. Now you put the newspaper down so half is outside the door and half inside."

They said: "Then you put the paper all the way outside. Then you take it away entirely. The dog is then broken to go outside."

☆ ☆ ☆

I wonder why that robin is hanging around when he could be flying south? Waiting for spring's berry sherry. (A little more dog advice and I will be at the cooking sherry myself.)

I said to the dog: "Which paper do you prefer, dog? Morning or afternoon? Or maybe you'd like the New York Times."

☆ ☆ ☆

I bought a book on "Dog Obedience." The book says, "It is practically i m p o s s i b l e to housebreak a dog until he is three months old. We advise you not to get one younger than that.'

I got the dog before I got the book. Too late. The puppy is seven weeks old. It looks like a long, cold winter. Outside.

County Authorizes IDA Bonds For Printing Plant

Lancaster County Commissioners Tuesday passed a resolution authorizing the issuance and sale of $2 million worth of Industrial Development Act (IDA) bonds for Mid-America Web-Press Inc.

According to Dale Tinstman, president of First Mid-America Securities, the funds will be used to develop a Mid-America Web-press printing plant in the Union Pacific Industrial Park northwest of Lincoln.

He said that the bonds have been sold and placed at rates between 8¼% and 8¾% with payment to begin in 1972 and run for 25 years.

Tinstman told the commissioners that the firm, which had stated earlier that it might request up to $5 million, may later request a second bond issue of about $2.5 million.

In other action, the board referred to the county attorney the possibility of eliminating an unlicensed trailer court.

Waverly School Supt. Carroll Severs urged the commissioners to close the court located two miles south and ¾ mile east of Walton.

Commissioner Ralph Harlan disclosed to Severs that the trailer court had been inspected and found to be violating several restrictions of the zoning code.

The board also passed a motion to examine a trailer court west of Emerald for sanitation but indicated that it "might fall under the grandfather clause" as far as closing it down under provisions of the zoning code adopted after its establishment.

County May Switch Back To Monthly Pay

Lancaster County Commissioners took under advisement a proposal by county employes to change pay periods back to monthly instead of the present two-week pay periods adopted last summer.

Deputy Sheriff William Greiner, spokesman for the County Employes Association, told the board that at the association's meeting Monday the majority voted in favor of returning to the once-a-month pay period.

Commissioner Ralph Harlan said that it would be less costly to return to the former method since it costs about $100 to process the checks each pay period.

He said he could think of no easier way to save $1,400 than to change the pay periods back to once a month.

Several county officials present at the meeting indicated that the majority of the employes of their respective offices favored the monthly pay period, although a spokesman for the assessor's office said that a poll of that office showed two in favor of the once-a-month period while 16 favored being paid every two weeks.

Interview Set For Health Post

Dr. B. J. Moran, state Health Board chairman, said Tuesday at least one candidate for the job of state health director would be interviewed at a board meeting next Monday.

The present director, Dr. Arnold M. Reeve, has resigned to become Iowa health director as of March 1.

Moran said candidates interviewed prior to Reeve's hiring last fall would be considered again but would not be interviewed a second time.

CITY OF LINCOLN BEGINS FLUORIDATION OF WATER

The city has begun fluoridation of its water.

And Ed Walters, plants supervisor of the city's water department said Tuesday he estimates that "within two weeks all Lincolnites will be using the fluoridated water."

Walters explained that the delay represents the amount of time necessary for a complete change of the water, which is pumped to Lincoln from the city's Ashland plant.

"Some areas of the city will be using the fluoridated water sooner than other areas." he said.

But Lincolnites will not know when they start drinking the "tooth decay preventative" since the flouride in the water is tasteless.

"The amount of fluoride is 1.2 parts per million," Walters said, in noting that there are 400 parts of minerals in the water, according to the latest analysis.

He said the downtown area should receive the fluoridated water at full strength quicker than other areas.

Walters said the water is pumped from Ashland to the 51st St. pumping station and then either sent through the system or held in reservoirs.

Gov. Norbert Tiemann has called a news conference for 9 a.m. Wednesday in the governor's hearing room at the State Capitol, according to word released by his office.

Tiemann was in Washington Tuesday, where he was among public officials who previously were athletes honored by the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Monagan Urges Greater Control Of Pentazocine

Wahington (UPI) — Rep. John S. Monagan, D-Conn., urged the Justice Department Tuesday to impose stricter control over the pain-killing drug Pentazocine which he said was addictive and similar in effect to LSD.

In a letter to Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, Monagan expressed concern that the Bureau of Narcotics failed to include Pentazocine on the list of drugs subject to narcotic control.

Positive Programs Promised

By Associated Press

Lincoln businessman J. J. Exon Tuesday promised to provide a series of positive programs to counter taxation and spending policies of the Tiemann administration.

But he declined to deal in specifics, indicating the policies would be presented at a later time.

The promise came as Exon, a Democrat, filed with Secretary of State Frank Marsh as the first official opponent to Republican Gov. Norbert Tiemann's gubernatorial re-election bid.

Exon launched a verbal attack on Tiemann 15 feet inside the east Statehouse door when he pointed to a sign indicating the room in which Nebraskans could receive taxpayer assistance and said:

"This is the first indication I've had in quite some time that anybody in the state is concerned about the Nebraska taxpayer."

STAR PHOTO

J. J. EXON . . . files as Marsh (left) looks on.

Least Used

But Exon said the sign hung in the least used entrance to the State Capitol and the taxpayer assistance was provided in one of the smallest rooms in the Statehouse.

Turning to a more serious vein, Exon said he planned to explain, "in terms that may be shocking to some Nebraskans," why he "objected strenuously" to salary increases in the executive branch of government, especially for persons appointed by Tiemann.

Exon said such "excessive increases" came at the expense of lower paid persons in state government, like personnel at the state hospital, who "have not been compensated nearly as well as have the choice few in the higher echelon."

Exon said he believed the people of Nebraska had a prime concern for the state's policies of spending and taxation.

Special Session

The expenditure for a special session of the Nebraska Legislature, as proposed by the Sarpy County Board, would not be justified if the only reason for the special session was to reapportion legislative districts, he said.

Sarpy County commissioners had sought an additional state legislator after a special census indicated the so-called "one man, one vote" rule was not being followed.

"I would submit that this fact was well known to the governor during the regular session last year," Exon said

In answer to a question, Exon, who owns a Lincoln business supply house, said if he were elected governor the firm would "cease making competitive bids to the state of Nebraska as it has for over 15 years."

Rotarians Urged To Create Jobs For State's Youth

State Sen. Henry F. Pedersen Jr. of Omaha called on businessmen Tuesday to create new jobs to keep young people from wanting to flee Nebraska.

"Today, our young people just aren't finding their future in this state," Pedersen told a meeting of Lincoln Rotarians.

"We must meet the tremendous enthusiasm of our young people during the 1970s," he said. "One very important way to meet it is by helping to create jobs for them right here in Nebraska."

Pedersen is a candidate for the Republican nomination as lieutenant governor.

New Deputy Warden Named

By Associated Press

Charles L. Wolff Jr. Tuesday was named new deputy warden of the Nebraska Penal Complex.

Wolff fills a vacancy created by the resignation of Deputy Warden John B. Greenholtz to become chairman of the State Board of Parole.

The promotion of Wolff, superintendent of industries, to the vacated position was made by Penal Complex Warden Maurice H. Sigler.

Robert F. Parratt, correctional captain, was promoted to superintendent of industries, succeeding Wolff, and John T. Phillips, lieutenant, was promoted to the position of correctional captain.

Wolff served as procurement officer for the old Board of Control before becoming superintendent of industries at the prison in October of 1959.

Parratt was first employed May 9, 1956 as a correctional officer and has moved up the ranks to the position of correctional captain, a post he has held since August of 1967.

Phillips was employed as a correctional officer May 15, 1967, after spending 27 years in the Army. He retired from the Army with the rank of master sergeant after having spent the last 20 years of his service in the military police.

SDX Urges Freedom Of Information

An organization of Nebraska journalists urged the Nebraska Constitutional Revision Commission Tuesday to avoid proposing any constitutional changes "which will tend to endorse or permit secrecy in government."

Letters expressing the position went to commission members from the Nebraska professional chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, national journalism society.

The organization said it is dedicated, among other things, to the cause of freedom of information.

"This means preserving the right of the people — the governed — to know what is being done by their government," the letter said.

"You well know how basic is this right-to-know to our form of government. As journalists we feel a particular responsibility to preserve it because we are the channels through which most information on government flows.

"And so we ask and urge: that you propose no change which will tend to endorse or permit secrecy in government.

"Further than that, we invite you to consider recommending some positive declaration in the constitution of this right-to-know principle, which is companion to freedom of speech and freedom of the press."

LEA Presents Salary Requests For Teachers

By LUCILLE HOWARD
Star Staff Writer

Salary increases ranging from $400 to $3,000, based on a $6,800 minimum, plus increments ranging from $300 to nearly $500 per person have been requested for teachers by the Lincoln Education Association, it was announced Tuesday.

The salary proposals for teachers and administrators in the Lincoln Public Schools and other requests such as negotiating the school calendar and increasing health insurance benefits were transmitted to the Board of Education late Monday and released at the Tuesday board meeting.

A differentiated staff salary schedule with a $7,000 minimum salary was requested for the second year by the school board in its proposals to the LEA.

No Alternate

Although the board indicated no alternate salary schedule as it did last year, it was stated that the board would agree to an increase of $200 to each step of the present schedule, for a $6,600 base, with some exceptions.

The exchange of proposals is preliminary to the actual negotiations sessions that will be handled by two teams representing the teachers and the school board. At the next meeting, Jan. 20, the proposals will be clarified by each side. The board is expected to identify the items it will negotiate on Jan. 27.

According to the index salary schedule proposed by the LEA, teachers would receive total pay boosts ranging from $700 to more than $3,600 except for those at the top of the B.A. degree schedule who would only receive about $460 more than last year.

Increments Higher

Although the minimum salary requested by the LEA was $200 below last year's base pay request of $7,000, the percentage increases for each increment were higher than requested last year.

An additional salary lane for persons with M.A. degrees plus 18 hours of graduate work toward a Ph.D. also was included in the index salary request.

The salary ranges for each degree level and percentage increases between increments for each year of experience proposed by LEA were:

—B.A., $6,800-$9,860, 4.5%.
—B.A. plus 18 hours, $7,140-$10,880, 5%.
—B.A. plus 36 hours or M.A. degree, $7,820-$12,308, 5.5%.
—M.A. plus 18 hours, $8,160-$13,056, 6%.
—M.A. plus 36 hours or six-year certificate, $8,840-$14,144, 6.5%.
—PhD, $9,520-$15,232, 7%

The administrative salary increases requested by the LEA would range between $1,050 at the bottom step to $1,575 at the top step.

Placement Changes

However, changes in the placement of some administrators on the schedule would provide for pay adjustments ranging from a low of 6.5% for senior high principals and a high of 13% for elementary principals, based on the 1969-70 salaries of each.

The range for elementary principals this year is $12,650-$13,250 and would be $14,000-$17,125 on the 1970-71 schedule proposed by the LEA. The range for senior high principals is $16,850-$18,050 in 1969-70 and would be $18,125-$19,625 as proposed.

The board stated that its "primary negotiations objective" would be installation of a salary plan for teachers "based on differentiations in assignment rather than on training and experience alone."

Won't Bypass Unit

However, the board also indicated that it does not intend to bypass the work of the joint LEA board committee on differentiated staffing. It was stated that the recommendations of the committee would be "useful in negotiating the board's proposal into a mutually acceptable form."

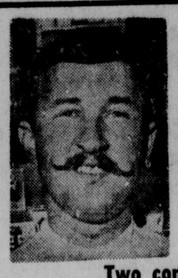

The board's other proposals to the LEA included:

—Adoption of a policy that all professional work performed by teachers above the regular contract be compensated on the basis of flat amounts for the work package involved with the LEA involved in determining the stipend amounts.
—Payment of $25 per student teacher to supervising teachers.
—Increasing "productivity and accountability of the Lincoln educational enterprise" by continuing to study staff utilization, encouraging and supporting innovations and supporting efforts to make student and teacher schedules more flexible.

Other items requested by the LEA included:

—Basing payment for extra duty assignments on a prepared list of percentages of the base salary, such as 19% for the head football coach and 1% for class sponsor.
—A "modest increase" in the board's contribution toward the Blue Cross-Blue Shield health care program for employes.
—Severance pay at retirement.
—Revision of the professional rights and responsibilities instrument on dealing with teacher grievances.
—Provision of a planning period for all elementary teachers during the regular school day.

Social Studies, English Classes Are Largest

Social studies and language arts teachers are carrying the heaviest load of instruction that keep the overall senior high pupil-teacher ratio at its 28-1 rate, statistics on class sizes presented to the Lincoln Board of Education revealed Tuesday.

Large percentages of classes in social studies and English have move than 35 students each, compared with other courses such as foreign language, industrial arts and art, it was reported.

In 1966, 1968 and 1969, more than 50% of the senior high language arts classes had 28-33 students each, with many classes even larger, Supt. John Prasch told the board.

Get Higher Load

Social studies classes also have been "skewed to the higher load" although ratios in both social studies and English have improved some this year with the addition of more staff members, he said.

More than half of the classes in industrial arts, art and foreign language have 20-27 students. No class in art or industrial arts has more than 33 students in any of the high schools.

Class sizes in the junior high subject areas were similar to the senior high loads, although not quite as extreme on either the high or low numbers.

Elementary class size statistics showed that while some schools have a high or low average number of students per classroom, the number of supportive staff members in the building changes the pupil-teacher ratio significantly.

Example Given

For example, at West Lincoln where classes average 18 students, the pupil-teacher ratio of supportive staff — outside the classroom teacher — is 72-1. At Pyrtle with an average class size of 32, the supportive staff district had "made some gains" in improving the overall teacher-pupil ratio last year that were augmented by overestimating the number of new children to the district.

Prasch told the board that the ratio is 62-1.

In other business: — Prasch reported that the proposals for changing the junior high format had met some resistance from the staff.

—The board accepted bids for 1970 rental of vacant school sites.

Nebraskans Invited To Suggest Changes In State's Constitution

Nebraskans have been invited to suggest changes in the state constitution.

Robert E. Barnett, legal counsel for the Nebraska Constitutional Revision Commission, said a lack of time and money forbade the scheduling of meetings across the state to solicit recommendations

But Barnett said suggestions could be mailed to him at Post Office Box 94712, Statehouse Station, Lincoln.

The state's citizens could "sit back after we're done and criticize what we came up with, but we'd much rather have them help us draft our proposals," Barnett said.

The 1969 Legislature created the commission to draft recommendations for the 1971 session. The Unicameral will study the recommendations with the potential to submit them to state voters.

The commission, headed by State Sen. Ramey Whitney of Chappell, has held some public hearings in Lincoln and will request public testimony once its recommendations are formed.

Automated Irrigation 'Feasible'

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

Near 400 irrigation farmers had their attention focused toward labor saving devices for irrigation as they concluded the annual irrigation short course here Tuesday.

The irrigators were told that automated irrigation systems are feasible and it's not complex or unreasonably expensive compared to providing labor for manually operated systems.

Many new advances in irrigation have farmers confident the day of back-breaking labor associated with irrigation may someday by only a memory.

Explanations of automated surface irrigation systems, mechanically moved sprinkler systems, tractor tow line, buried irrigation lines, and solid set systems all received attention of the irrigators.

New practices were also discussed.

This includes using the irrigation system for crop cooling and frost protection.

Every other furrow irrigation for corn was discussed as a promising possiblity for the farmer that needs to get over more acres at a fast rate to save a crop from reduced corn yields.

A word becoming more familiar to Nebraska irrigators is incrustation.

Clogging Problem

This is one of the most common causes of decreased well capacity as the clogging of the water-bearing formations adjacent to the well bore and at the openings of the well screen cut down of the yield of irrigation wells.

Irrigators are learning that the expected service life of an irrigation well might be judged in somewhat the same way as human life expectancy.

Factors that determine a well's life expectancy include: how good was the original design and construction; how good is the environment of the well; how hard is it worked; and what kind of care does it get from the owner.

NU Faculty Unit Backs Housing Act

The University of Nebraska Faculty Senate Tuesday called on the city of Lincoln to enact an open housing law to protect the "interests and dignity of all the residents of Lincoln."

The Senate took the action on a voice vote, with one dissent, to endorse a statement of the University Housing Policy Committee and the University Human Rights Committee.

The city has a "distinct responsibility to afford its residents legal protection and recourse when their civil rights are arbitrarily and prejudicially violated," the Senate stated.

The Senate was told that its Human Rights Committee has under study 14 issues, including NU purchase of land in the Malone Center area, equal treatment for NU graduates in placement and testing, police treatment of minority students, equal treatment for women and consideration for poverty students whose athletic eligibility has run out before graduation.

The Senate tabled two proposals from faculty members calling for two non-instruction days between classes and a post-season bowl game and expressing opposition against extension of the regular football season from 10 to 11 or more games.

The Senate's Committee on Intercollegiate Athletics also was asked to present a clarification on the use of university facilities to provide a forum for a certain religious organization as was done in the case of the NU-Christian Athletes in Action basketball game held during Christmas vacation.

Counties Share $505,000 From Car Line Levy

State Treasurer Wayne Swanson reported Tuesday the distribution of $505,914 in car line transportation tax revenue to the 93 counties.

This year's amount increased over the $490,008 distributed last January.

The revenue is derived from a property valuation formula applied against flight equipment of air lines and privately-owned railroad cars operated in the state.

Since the state is now prohibited from assessing property taxes, the revenue is prorated back to the counties proportionately to their total assessed valuations.

Allocations of $10,000 or more to the counties include Douglas, $93,134; Lancaster, $35,735; Dodge, $13,046; Hall, $12,109; and Sarpy, $10,328.

Trial Slated In Motor Vehicle Homicide Case

Trial for Christine Townsend charged with a misdemeanor offense of motor vehicle homicide in connection with the Jan. 5 death of Carl A. Royer has been set in Lancaster County Court for Jan. 21.

Miss Townsend, 19, of 2446 Vine, entered a guilty plea to the charge but Judge Ralph Slocum refused to accept the plea and entered an innocent plea for her and set the case for trial. Bond was set at $1,000.

According to Deputy County Attorney Ronald Lahners, an investigation of the two-vehicle accident at 33rd and A disclosed that the vehicle driven by the defendant failed to stop for a stop sign at the intersection.

Mr. Royer died of multiple internal injuries including a ruptured spleen and punctured lungs, Lahners said.

Local Option Sales Tax Rules Rapped

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The State Tax Commissioner's proposed rules for administration of the local option sales tax in Lincoln and Omaha drew fire Tuesday from officials and businessmen of the two cities in public hearing Tuesday.

Norman Krivosha, Lincoln city attorney, said the commissioner's proposed rule on retail sales "flies into the teeth of the Lancaster District Court decision."

"The Local Option Revenue Act (LORA) authorized cities to impose a sales tax within their jurisdiction," Krivosha said, arguing the commissioner's rule would have the effect of collecting a municipal tax "on transactions outside the city's jurisdiction."

"The problem of administration could have been easily resolved," he suggested, "if LORA had specifically exempted shipments outside a municipality as does the state act on shipments outside of the state (Nebraska)," he said.

Krivosha, backed by the City of Omaha and businessmen attending the hearing, proposed the commissioner adopt administrative rules for taxation of "only transactions with those municipal jurisdiction exercising the local sales tax option."

The city sales tax would be imposed on the same transaction within those municipalities on which the state also collects a sales tax.

Under the Krivosha-proposed rule, "all transactions shall be presumed to have taken place within the incorporated municipality if said sale upon which the tax is imposed is made to the consumer in person within the incorporated municipality or as a result of receiving a telephone call or letter requesting the purchase or such sales or service subject to the local option revenue tax."

"All transactions made outside the incorporated municipality even if made by a salesman assigned to or residing within an incorporated municipality (with the local option tax) . . . shall be presumed to have taken place outside the municipality even though such order or sales must be forwarded into the municipality . . . for purposes of shipment, billing or collection."

Where a state use liability exists, the consumer residing within a LORA municipality would be required to report and remit such city use tax.

Assistant Tax Commissioner Elmer Hermes said the Department of Revenue would keep the hearing record open until Friday for any written statements that may be filed later.

Tax Commissioner Murrel McNeil pledged his office would use any discretion permissible under the law in adopting administrative rules that are equitable to the merchants and citizens in cities with a local sales tax.

Under fire was the commissioner's rule which proposed that "all sales, leases and rentals (except those exempted by law) are consumated whether title or possession or segregation in contemplation of transfer of title or possession passes, whichever come first."

Stuart Wheeler, attorney for the tax commissioner, agreed this rule would make "any goods sold within the LORA cities subject to the local tax regardless of where they were shipped within the state."

Charles Thone, attorney representing Lincoln Supplier Associates, said the Krivosha rule "is a discretionary approach, legal under LORA. It can be lived with by Lincoln and Omaha businessmen."

General Steel Products of Lincoln and the Nebraska Retail Lumber Dealers Association endorsed the Krivosha-proposed "transaction" rule, while the other 40 to 50 businessmen present indicated their approval as "a silent majority."

The commissioner rules on local sale tax administration of motor vehicles, utility services and vending machines drew no objections in the hearing.

Damage Suit Is Filed In Accident

A $75,000 suit was filed Tuesday in Lancaster District Court in connection with a Dec. 27, 1969, accident in which the plaintiff, David P. Morrow, fell from the running board of the pickup truck driven by the defendant Lyle Handy Jr. and owned by his father, Lyle Handy Sr.

Morrow, through his father, Everett Morrow, alleges that he and his brother were attempting to push his vehicle free from snow and ice on a street in front of the Morrow residence at 1035 Eldon Dr. when the defendant drove up and made some comment about the plaintiff and his brother blocking the street.

According to the petition, the defendant or his companion shouted obscenities at the plaintiff and the plaintiff ran after the defendant's truck on foot and jumped onto the running board.

The plaintiff contends that he grasped the door on the driver's side and at that time the pickup truck was traveling about five miles per hour but after the plaintiff jumped on it increased speed, began to zig-zag from side to side on the street.

Although he clung to the side of the defendant's truck with both hands to avoid falling to the ground or under the truck, the plaintiff alleges he was "forcibly and violently" thrown to the ground and struck by the left rear wheel of the defendant's truck.

The plaintiff alleges negligence on the part of the defendant in that he was operating the vehicle while under the influence of alcoholic liquor, failed to maintain control, was traveling at a rate of speed too fast for slick and icy conditions and continued to travel while he had a flat tire.

Morrow contends that the defendant knew of the plaintiff's peril and that he had the ability to avoid the accident but as a result of the defendant's negligence, the plaintiff suffered a broken nose, fractured jaw and teeth, lacerations, broken ribs and possible internal injuries yet to be determined.

The plaintiff states in the petition that he admits that by his own negligence immediately before the accident he was in a position of peril in clinging to the side of the defendant's truck.

MISS LISA ANN MASER

Of interest to town and campus circles is the engagement of Miss Lisa Ann Maser, daughter of Mrs. Edward Maser, and the late Mr. Maser, to Tay Robert Tollefsen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Tollefsen of Kearney, which is announced this morning by the bride-elect's mother.

The wedding will take place on Sunday, June 7.

Miss Maser is a senior at the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Delta Gamma sorority and of Little Sisters of Minerva of which she is serving as vice-president. Miss Maser is a former pompon girl.

Mr. Tollefsen is a junior at the University of Nebraska and is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

IN suburban areas

The temperatures are a little closer to bearable this week, but it's too soon yet to expect an end to boots, mittens and balky motors. We have 19 days just to make it to Ground Hog Day. Valentine's Day should be a little warmer, in spirit, anyway, but that's a whole month away. January has gone fast this year — we're almost half way through it — but the trouble is that we don't have a single thing to celebrate this month (maybe the President's birthday?)

The Southern states have all the luck sunshine and legal holidays besides. Last Thursday was Battle of New Orleans Day in Louisiana, and next Saturday is Arbor Day in Florida (can you imagine it?). In six southern states Robert E. Lee's birthday, on Jan. 19, is a legal holiday, and Kentucky and the Virgin Islands celebrate Jan. 30 as Franklin D. Roosevelt Day. We could always celebrate next Tuesday, when the zodiac moves on to Aquarius. . .

Actually, as we've said before, suburban residents don't need an excuse for social activity even in January the beat goes on.

Some suburban dwellers are even lucky enough to escape to the sun this month. Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Eden of Prairie Valley, for instance, are leaving this week for Mexico where they will remain until mid-April. The Pacific Coast resort of Mazatlan will be winter headquarters for Mr. and Mrs. Eden.

There also is some last week news involving the Edens. They were in Omaha last Saturday evening for a surprise house-warming party for their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cooper, who recently moved from Lincoln. Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Merry organized the friendly expedition of about 25 Lincoln friends of the couple.

Also celebrating Saturday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Roth, who gave a dinner in honor of Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Wheeler's 50th wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Vince Kess joined the Roths and the Wheelers for the evening's festivities.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Urbom took part in an unusual dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Krause on Saturday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Urbom, Mr. and Mrs. Krause and Mr. and Mrs. Darrel Jensen are interested in foreign cuisine — so — the three couples joined forces Saturday night for some exotic Indian dishes. Special guests at the dinner were Taseen Khan and Tajh Khan, Indian foreign students at the University of Nebraska for whom the Urboms are Lincoln the host family. The group shared recipes for the dishes they had brought, and discussed Indian social customs with the students.

Mr. and Mrs. Forrest B. Shrader have spent the first days of 1970 suffering with the rest of us, but they had several days of sun-soaking during the Christmas holidays. The Shraders were among those Nebraska fans lucky enough to be in El Paos, for the Sun Bowl, and they spent a few days sight-seeing in San Antonio and Houston before they left Texas.

But that didn't complete the fun — Mr. and Mrs. Shrader spent an exciting Christmas Eve in New Orleans, with dinner at Antoine's, and they were in Memphis Christmas Day to be with Mr. Shrader's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Burk. The travelers were back in Lincoln in time for New Year's Eve.

Other Prairie Valley residents also found some sun during the holidays. Dr. and Mrs. Gayle B. Childs were in San Diego, where they visited Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Clark and where Dr. Childs attended a meeting of Phi Delta Kappa, professional education fraternity, of which he is a member. He is director of the University of Nebraska extension division, and professor of secondary education at NU.

Courtesies For Bride-Elect

Miss Eloise Carol Cowling whose marriage to Perry Poyner will be solemnized on Saturday, Jan. 24, has been kept busy with prenuptial courtesies in recent weeks.

Two members of Miss Cowling's wedding party, Miss Doris Hoffman and Miss Sue Waldman, were hostesses at a miscellaneous shower on Jan. 8 at the Nurses Dormitory at Lincoln General Hospital where Miss Cowling is a student.

Last Monday evening Mrs. William Roussan and Mrs. Leonard Smith were hostesses at the home of Mrs. Smith when they complimented the bride-elect with a kitchen shower.

Tomorrow night Mrs. Tom Hinds and Miss Holly Hobbs will honor Miss Cowling with a personal shower when they entertain at the home of Mrs. Hinds.

Know Your Antiques

Beating the grain with this flail was the job of the whole family at harvest time. The wooden poles, joined with a raw hide lacing were made about 1850 in Illinois.

By RALPH and TERRY KOVEL

Cracks in the floor plus a long stick helped with the making of bread. It was necessary to separate the kernels from the chaff before any housewife could make the bread.

The grain was cut, taken to the barn, and placed on the floor. The entire family would beat it with flails or special sticks. After beating the grain, the farmer put everything into a winnowing basket. The basket was taken into the wind and the grain was throw in the air. The chaff would blow away and the kernels fell into the basket.

Some areas of Pennsylvania had a different system. They placed the grain on a plank floor and the kernels fell through the slits in the floor. The wind blew the chaff out the door.

Q. My cut glass knife rests are in two sizes. One is big, the other little. Why? Knife blades are about the same size.

A. Knife rests were used in two ways. The large type held the carving knife and fork. This helped to keep the dripping gravy off the table cloth.

The small rests were used in homes where the dinner was served European style. After each course, the dishes were removed but the silverware remained, as is the custom in many restaurants today. The knife blade and fork, turned tines down, were leaned against the knife rest until a clean plate arrived. The small rests were for individual use. The large one, for the carving knife was only for the host.

Q. According to the mark, my toy train was made by Ferdinand Straus. Who was he?

A. Ferdinand Straus was the "toy king" at the beginning of the 20th century. He made wind-up toys as well as other playthings and sold them through four retail stores and to other dealers. The firm failed in the 1920s. One of his employes, Louis Marx, opened his own factory which is one of today's largest toy manufacturing companies.

Q. "Million Dollar Smoke" is the name of the picture attached to my old cigar box. It pictures the New York State Capitol fire in 1911. Is it worth saving?

A. There are many collectors today who specialize in "smoking" antiques. Old pipes, tobacco boxes, tobacco tags, cigarette advertising cards, cigarette bands, cigar boxes and cigar box labels are all of interest. Paper labels, packages, ads, and other related items are also saved.

BOOK REVIEW

Magazines for collectors are becoming more specilized. "The National Bottle Gazette" is a monthly publication (Box 136, Amador City, Calif. 59601, $3.75 per yer) devoted to all types of bottles. "Insulators, Crown Jewels of the Wire" is a monthly magazine (Route 1, Box 475, Chico, Calif. 95926) that describes, and pictures insulators of all types and tells of the latest shows, clubs, and collectors.

Ralph and Terry Kovel regret that they cannot research and provide personal answers about antiques you may own. They do appreciate your questions which can be answered in the column. Pictures and drawings cannot be returned.

"Books About Antiques" gives you a list of books available on varius kinds of antiques. In sending for this, please enclose 5 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envolope and mail to Ralph and Terry Kovel in care of The Lincoln Star.

Greet Spring With A Trimmer Figure

Josephine Lowman

It will not be long now before the glamorous season, spring, arrives. That is the time of bursting blossoms, spring showers, gentle sunshine and new clothes. It do no believe there is any time of the year when women wish so fervently to be lovely, perhaps because nature is doing such a beautiful and complete makeover job on herself.

Don't meet this season with the birds singing and the zippers springing! There is time to lose any overweight you have so that you can enjoy the charming colorful clothes. Thousands of women are doing just that. This is the eighth day of my Eight Week Beauty Improvement Plan which help you reach your goal in time.

Those of you who are following this course have weighed and measured yourselves, heard a lot about exercise and planning reducing menus, and should be well on your way. I have also given you seven exercises and menus for seven days. Today, I would like to talk about when and how often you should weigh and how frequently you should measure yourself.

The best time to weigh is in the morning in the nude, when you first get up. Clothes can weigh a few or many pounds. Therefore, they confuse the verdict. If you do not have a bathroom scale at home, be sure to wear the same clothes or those of similar weight every time you weigh yourself. It is also best to weigh on the same scale. Sometimes these differ a few pounds.

How often you weigh seems to be a question of individual psychology. I had always believed that once a week is often enough. I felt it would be discouraging to weigh more frequently because you do not lose every day. Usually, several days will pass and then the scale will show a loss of several pounds.

However, many readers have written to say that they were never able to lose weight until they weighed every day and recorded it on a day by day chart. They needed a visual impact to keep at it. This is probably a good idea if you do not expect to lose every day. It has its advantages. This way it is impossible for a gain of any importance to slip up on you.

Measure every two weeks. If you are so curious you cannot wait and your clothes feel a bit looser, then measure before that. However, except..when you are on a crash diet and losing very rapidly, it takes longer than a week for much difference in measurements to show.

Contract — seven diamonds.

Opening lead — jack of spades.

Let's say you're declarer at seven diamonds with the South hand, and let's also assume you see all four hands. West leads the jack of spades and your task is to make all the tricks against the best possible defense.

It is not an easy chore to perform, but this is largely because you are apt to suffer from a blind spot and find yourself barking up the wrong tree.

You win the spade with the ace and start the ball rolling with five rounds of trumps. In order to make the contract you must discard the queen of clubs from dummy on the fifth diamond! As a result, when you next cash the A-K-Q of hearts, this becomes the position:

North

South

When you now lead a heart to the jack, East-West have a choice of four different ways to discard:

1. If they each discard a spade, you ruff the eight of spades and dummy wins the last two tricks.

2. If they each discard a club, you cash the ace of clubs, ruff a spade, and score the last trick with the three of clubs.

3. If West discards a spade and East a club, you lead the queen of spades from dummy, simultaneously trapping East's king and West's ten to score the remaining tricks.

4. If West discards a club and East a spade you ruff the eight of spades, felling East's king to score the remaining tricks.

Paradoxically, if dummy had the A-4 of clubs instead of the A-Q, you would probably find it easier to make the contract. The queen creates a diversion which makes the problem more difficult.

PHT Graduates Receive Diplomas

At 10 o'clock, the morning of Saturday, Jan. 31, the University of Nebraska mid-year commencement will take place with considerable pomp and ceremony at Pershing Auditorium.

There was another commencement ceremony which took place on last Monday evening when the wives of graduating engineering students received their PHT degrees. Just in case you didn't know, PHT is 'putting hubby through'.

The ceremony took place at Richards Hall, and although there were no caps and gowns, no Master's degrees and no Doctorates, the PHT graduates were completely happy with their diplomas.

The diplomas were presented by Dr. Don Haworth, head of the mechanical engineering department of the College of Engineering and architecture.

Eagerly awaiting their diplomas are PHT graduates (left to right) Mrs. Patrick Quinn, Mrs. Ron Traudt, Mrs. Robert Turechek, Mrs. Sam Peterson, Mrs. Ken Marra, Mrs. James Lofton, Mrs. Doug Dewitz, Mrs. LeRoy Bergmann, Mrs. Gene Sprock, and Mrs. Roger Neumann.

The members of the NU Dames will meet Thursday evening, Jan. 15, for a 7:30 o'clock meeting at the Methodist Student Center. A program on drugs will be presented by Mrs. Harry Canon.

Abby: speak your mind

DEAR ABBY: When my sister, Leona, was married, my parents gave her and her husband, Ross, many lovely pieces of furniture as a wedding gift. Leona died quite suddenly, one year after her marriage and Ross put the furniture in storage and moved into a smaller apartment. That was two years ago.

Now my brother is getting married, and my parents have told me that they intend to ask Ross for the furniture so they can give it to my brother and his fiancee as they feel it should be kept in "our" family. Ross is also considering marriage in the near future.

Abby, I wasn't "asked" for my opinion. My parents simply told me of their intentions. I personally feel that my parents are out of line to ask Ross for the furniture. I believe that Leona would have wanted Ross to keep whatever they shared. I also believe that my brother and his wife would feel uncomfortable accepting the furniture. Should I speak my mind? Or should I keep my mouth shut?

STILL WATER

DEAR STILL WATER: Speak your mind. I agree wtih you.

DEAR ABBY: Thanks a lot for not agreeing with that reader who was all for getting middle-aged men out of the bedroom and into fishing boots.

Our streams are already crowded enough as it is without filling them with more frustrated fly-flingers.

Truly yours,
BOB PEEL AS ROD HUNTER

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed evelope.

Playboy Slips

Picking and rating football teams is becoming so difficult these days that not even the champion of the past three years, Playboy Magazine, can do it any more.

For three years, Playboy Magazine had topped Sports Illustrated, Look, The Associated Press and all others who try to rate college football teams in preseason polls.

But after this season, Playboy Magazine can once again be thought of as a magazine noted for what Hugh Hefner intended it to be famous for rather than for rating football teams.

And Sports Illustrated this year can claim the title of No. 1 in the preseason rating business.

Only six of Playboy's preseason top ten wound up there in the final AP poll and Playboy's No. 1 pick was Houston while the girlie-pickers rated Texas only No. 6.

Street and Smith, Look and Inside Football also had only six teams in the final top 10 while AP, Sports Illustrated, The Sporting News, Football Roundup and Football Yearbook all had seven.

No One Picked Texas

None of the nine picked Texas No. 1 with Sports Illustrated coming closest, however, rating the Longhorns No. 2 while Playboy had them sixth, Street and Smith seventh, AP fourth, Look eighth, The Sporting News eighth, Football Roundup fifth, Football Yearbook seventh and Inside Football 10th.

Ohio State was an overwhelming choice for No. 1 in preseason ratings, being ranked on top by Sports Illustrated, Look, The Sporting News, Street and Smith, AP, and Football Yearbook.

Inside Football chose Penn State, Football Roundup tabbed Southern Cal and Playboy had Houston.

Sports Illustrated, although not in the exact order, had the final top four teams as its preseason top four.

No. 1 Texas, No. 2 Penn State, No. 3 Southern Cal, No. 4 Ohio State and No. 7 Arkansas were the only final top ten members in the preseason top 10 of all nine publications.

No. 5 Notre Dame was rated in the preseason top 10 only by Football Roundup (8th), Football Yearbook (6th), Inside Football (4th), Sports Illustrated (8th) and The Sporting News (5th) while No. 6 Missouri was left out of the preseason top 10 only by Playboy which rated the Tigers 12th.

Biggest Surprises

The biggest surprises to the preseason dopesters had to be No. 9 Michigan and No. 10 LSU, both of whom failed to make anyone's preseason top 10.

No. 8 Mississippi also was a surprise to most, being ranked in the preseason top 10 only by Playboy (5th), AP (9th) and Look (9th).

One of the most overrated teams was Arkansas with the Razorbacks being rated No. 2 by Football Yearbook, Inside Football, Playboy, Street and Smith, and Associated Press, third by Look and The Sporting News, fifth by Sports Illustrated and sixth by Football Roundup.

However, the Hogs must share the booby prize award with Oklahoma and Georgia, neither of whom even made the top 20 after being ranked in the top 10 by most of the preseason figurers.

The Sooners were ranked as high as third by both Inside Football and Playboy and made the top 10 of seven of the nine preseason ratings studied.

Georgia, a 45-6 loser to Nebraska in the Sun Bowl, was ranked as high as fourth by both The Sporting News and Street and Smith and made the top 10 of four other publications.

Playboy's football prestige slipped a bit this year, but Hugh Hefner claims there has been no noticeable rush in subscription cancellations.

Saturday's AFL All-Star Game Minus Standouts

. . . LOOP'S BEST QUARTERBACKS PLAGUED BY INJURIES

Houston, Tex. (AP) — John Hadl for the West and Mike Taliaferro or Jack Kemp for the East were tabbed Tuesday as the probable starting quarterbacks for Saturday's American Football League All-Star game.

"We've had our problems at quarterback but believe we have the answers now," said Milt Woodard, the AFL president.

Joe Namath of New York and Daryle Lamonica of Oakland had been selected to direct the All-Star attacks but both withdrew with injuries.

Injuries or other problems also eliminated Houston's Pete Beathard from the East squad and knocked Lenny Dawson of Kansas City, Gregg Cook of Cincinnati, and Steve Tensi of Denver out of contention for Lamonica's spot.

Lou Saban of Denver, coach of the West, said he will start Hadl of San Diego and use Mike Livingston, Dawson's understudy with the world champion Kansas City Chiefs, as the backup.

George Wilson of Miami, coach of the East, indicated he will alternate Taliaferro of the Boston Patriots and Kemp of Buffalo. There was some indication Taliaferro held a narrow edge for the starting call.

A foot injury also has sidelined Don Maynard, New York Jet wide receiver Wilson describes as being among the best in pro football.

The West squad also worked out Tuesday without one of its top receivers, Fred Biletnikoff of Oakland. A virus infection sent Biletnikoff to bed Monday, but Saban said he should be ready by Saturday.

The game will be the final official event of the American Football League that next season becomes the American Conference of the merged pro league.

"It is only fitting that this final AFL game should be played in Houston," Woodard said. "The league's first championship game was played here in 1960 with Houston defeating the old Los Angeles Chargers, 24-16."

Woodard said Saban's West squad should be the favorite Saturday by a narrow edge. Saban disagreed.

Saban said neither squad has a decided edge in personnel.

"The winner will be the one who makes the fewest mistakes," he said.

Saban's running backs include Floyd Little of Denver, Dickie Post of San Diego, Paul Robinson of Cincinnati, and Robert Holmes of Kansas City. Wilson's runners include Carl Garrett of Boston, Matt Snell of New York, O. J. Simpson of Buffalo and Jim Klick of Miami.

The 2 p.m. EST kickoff will be televised nationally.

Houston Oiler officials said advance ticket sales were approaching 30,000. A record 41,058 saw last year's game at Jacksonville, Fla.

Glove Team Coach Ted Is Leaving

Lincoln is losing its second veteran Golden Gloves coach in less than a year with Ted White, a veteran of 18 years in amateur boxing in the Capital City, being transferred by the company for which he works.

Larry Emery, a long-time competitor of White's in the coaching and training of amateur boxers, retired last spring and has since moved to Omaha.

Unlike Emery, who had the continuous sponsorship of Roberts Dairy through most of his coaching career, White has had to scramble for sponsors and often sponsored his boxing team out of his own pocket.

White had two 1969 Southeast District champions in his stable this year in Dave Oldfield and Randy Nelson and appeared headed for possibly his first district title as a coach after being a runner-up to Emery for many years.

"I love boxing," White said. "It has been so great to me. I have met a lot of people and hate to get out of it because I've made so many friends and tried to help the boys interested in the sport find their spots.

"I have enjoyed helping boys and working with them even to the point of often helping them when they were in trouble. It will be hard for me to let this thing go."

White said he hoped to get into boxing again after his business transfer to Oklahoma City.

Rebound Losses Means Game

. . . CHALK PROVES WORKHORSE

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Writer

Nebraska uncovered a formula for losing basketball games at home Tuesday night at the NU Coliseum.

Shoot only 36% from the field, sprinkle in a 53% night from the free throw line and let yourself get out-rebounded by 40-27 and it adds up to a 71-64 loss to Big Eight leader Kansas State.

Only two Big Eight teams have managed to lose on their home court this season and those two, Nebraska and Oklahoma State, share another dubious distinction this morning — they're both at the bottom of the Big Eight standings looking up from a dark basement as far as their Big Eight title hopes are now concerned with 0-2 league marks.

Nebraska basketball coach Joe Cipriano expressed disappointment with his team's rebounding efforts in the opening league loss at Iowa State a week ago, but it got worse before it got better.

In fact, it got progressively worse Tuesday night at the NU Coliseum. Owning a 15-14 rebounding edge in the first half which ended in a 33-33 tie, the Huskers managed to corral only 12 caroms in the final 20 minutes and seldom got a second shot at their basket.

Meanwhile Kansas State, showing a great deal more aggressiveness on the boards, came up with 26 second half rebounds.

And it was two sophomores, 6-7 David Hall with 17 and 6-8 Bob Zender with eight, who led the rebounding mismatch for the Wildcats while 6-7 LeRoy Chalk was the only Husker doing any work on the boards, pulling down 11 of the 27 NU rebounds.

Chuck Jura, at 6-10 the tallest man on the floor, could get only three rebounds and 6-8 Jim Brooks added only four for the Husker cause.

Kansas State, making its first road appearance in the Big Eight after two opening league wins at home over Oklahoma State and Oklahoma, won the game with a splurge midway in the second half that opened up a 13-point lead at 57-44 with the Huskers unable to convert a field goal attempt for nearly four minutes.

After falling behind by that amount with 11 minutes remaining, the Huskers began to peck away at the big lead, but could get no closer than a two-point spread down the stretch as an inability to convert at the free throw line hurt badly in the final minutes during the catch-up attempt.

Sixth man Marvin Stewart, who had turned the ball over to Kansas State three straight times in the first half, led the comeback with two field goals sandwiched around a David Hall free throw slicing the K-State lead to 63-61 with 5:25 remaining.

But two free throws by Kansas State sub Jack Thomas and a tip-in by Zender pushed the Wildcats back to a 67-61 margin moments later.

When Jura fouled out with 3:14 left and a technical foul was called on the Nebraska bench on the play, the Wildcats had a chance to salt the victory away for keeps.

But they missed the first of the one-and-one free throw and also missed the technical, then had a traveling violation called on the in-bounds pass resulting from the technical.

But seconds later, they did put the game out of reach with Jerry Venable hitting a jumper to make it 69-61 and after Tom Scantlebury sank a free throw, Venable came back with a tip-in as the Huskers were beaten once again on the boards for a 71-62 K-State margin.

Two final free throws by Stewart, who came off the bench to lead the Husker scoring with 15 points, cut the final margin to 71-64.

In the final four minutes when Nebraska was trying to pull the game out after Stewart's field goal had cut the gap to 63-61, Stewart missed the first of a one-and-one, Scantlebury missed the first of a two-shot free throw, Bob Gratopp missed the first of a one-and-one and Stewart missed both ends of a two-shot foul.

The Huskers, who now stand 9-4 on the season, play host to Big Eight pre-season favorite Colorado in the Buffs league opener Saturday night

Class D Standings Stable

. . . TOP DIVISIONS SHUFFLED

By VIRGIL PARKER
Prep Sports Writer

The Class D high school basketball ratings show more stability this week than in any of the other divisions. Only one new face joins the select group and the seven leading teams are in the same position as a week ago.

In comparison to Class A where a newcomer jumped all the way to the No. 3 spot and where the top ten quintets have already lost a total of 20 games, the small school picture is much easier to justify. Seven of the top eight Class D clubs still boast perfect records.

Class B went through a major shuffle this week also and five new teams joined the Class C top ten. But the Class D favorites rolled merrily along.

The new club to join the scenes is Republican Valley, which despite two losses makes it as No. 9.

Coach Roger Stockall's Mustangs dropped a five-point decision to Class C Benkleman and then lost a narrow one-pointer to No. 1 Cambridge to earn the call. Some of their seven wins have come over Class C foes by lopsided scores.

The victim of the switch is Elmwood, No. 2 a year ago, and in the ratings at the outset this year despite a loss to No. 2 Odell.

Coach Larry Horstman's Pirates dropped their second of the year to No. 10 Table Rock and fell from the top ten.

Elmwood may be a victim of the same fate it suffered a year ago. But the Pirates will have some company along the sidelines this time.

There are 16 Class D districts. The winners tangle for eight state tourney berths. Just one team will make it to the Capital City in March from Districts 1 and 2.

Last year Elmwood was the only team to defeat eventual state champion Sterling. Sterling avenged the loss in a squeaker for the district title, then breezed to the state championship.

Currently, No. 2 Odell, No. 4 Mead, Sterling at No. 7 and No. 10 Table Rock, in addition to Elmwood, are all in the two districts. Only one can make the state tourney scene.

Cambridge, with more wins than any team in the state after capturing 11 in a row, continues at the head of the small school pack. A semifinalist in Class C last year, the Trojans haven't shown any cracks in their armour jet.

French Girl Wins Austrian Slalom

Badgastein, Austria (AP) — Unheralded Ingrid Lafforgue led the French on another victory run Tuesday when she won the Silver Jug slalom as her more well-known teammates were disqualified.

Marilyn Cochran of Richmond, Vt., who "did not like my two runs at all," made up for an attack of falls by her U.S. teammates and took fourth place while Rosi Fortna of Warren, Vt., took seventh and Susan Corrock of Seattle waas eighth.

Miss Lafforgue, taking over for French World Cup leader Michele Jacot who fell after pacing the first run, flashed down the two tracks in 87.81 seconds on an excellent track which held up for most of the field of 108 girls.

Betsy Clifford of Canada, 16, was second in 89.22 42.32, 46.90 and Dominique Matthier of France third in 89.70 42.71, 46.99. Miss Cochran's time was 8979 43.13, 46.66.

Meyer Tabbed Top Female Of '69 By AP

Sydney, Australia (AP) — At 17 years of age, Debbie Meyer, a schoolgirl from Sacramento, Calif., has been around the world breaking swimming records, and now she's sitting on top of it.

"It's great, really great," she gushed like any wide-eyed teenager.

What was so great was her selection Tuesday as The Associated Press, Female Athlete of the Year for 1969, an award that barely eluded her last year when ice skater Peggy Fleming narrowly won the honor for 1968.

"I know I went very close for the award last year," she said, "and naturally I was disappointed when I missed out. I just wasn't thinking about it this year."

At 17, she'll have plenty of time now to think about it, and at 17 this three-time gold medalist in the 1968 Olympics has a chance to become the first swimmer to win the award twice.

All-Pro Team Listings Dominated By LA Rams

. . . EX-HUSKERS ON TEAM

New York (AP) — The Kansas City Chiefs won the Super Bowl, but the National Football League still dominated the first annual Pro-Football Hall of Fame all-pro team.

Although the Chiefs placed four players on the first team, the NFL landed 17 of the 24 positions, and the Los Angeles Rams grabbed five of them. Minnesota, the Super Bowl loser, took two places, but Coach Bud Grant of the Vikings was named the Coach of the Year over the Rams' George Allen.

The AFL, however, did make up some ground on the second team with a 15-9 advantage, including six members of the Oakland Raiders.

The Chiefs named were offensive tackle Jim Tyrer, outside linebacker Bobby Bell, safety Johnny Robinson and placekicker Jan Stenerud. The Rams placed quarterback Roman Gabriel, defensive end Deacon Jones, defensive tackle Merlin Olsen, guard Tom Mack and offensive tackle Bob Brown, former Nebraska star.

Minnesota's selections were center Mick Tingelhoff and defensive end Carl Eller, another ex-Nebraska star.

Running back Gale Sayers and middle linebacker Dick Butkus, both of Chicago, led the balloting.

Sayers was picked on either the first or second team on every ballot and Butkus missed on only one of the 26-man Board of Selectors composed of sports writers in each pro football city.

The rest of the first offensive team is running back Calvin Hill of Dallas, wide receivers Lance Alworth of San Diego and Paul Warfield of Cleveland, tight end Bob Trumpy of Cincinnati, guard Gene Hickerson of Cleveland and punter David Lee of Baltimore.

—PACES OVERTIME WIN—

St. Cecilia Hero Player Of Week

By VIRGIL PARKER
Prep Sports Writer

Basketball is a pressure game. And never is that pressure more apparent than when the last-second free throw or that final long shot at the buzzer can mean the difference between victory and defeat.

Mike Korth of Hastings St. Cecilia played it so cool in such a situation against Grand Island Central Catholic recently that he earns himself Player of the Week honors.

Korth and his Blue Hawk teammates were deadlocked with GICC 51-51 at the end of regulation play. Only six points were scored in the overtime as St. Cecilia won, 57-51, and Korth tallied them all.

St. Cecilia controlled the tipoff to start the three minute overtime and appeared content to stall the time away and go for just one shot.

The strategy backfired with a pass interception however, but when an ensuing GICC pass was stolen, Korth was open and canned a basket with just 30 seconds left.

In the wild finish to follow he hit two pressure-packed free throws and another fielder to finish with 21 points for the night.

Others who had outstanding games last week and deserve special mention include:

Mark Westerman, West Point Central Catholic — Though only scoring five points, his basket with just 10 seconds left was the difference as WPCC edged Fremont Bergan, 54-53.

Mick Hoffman, Polk —Cited for his outstanding defensive play in 48-34 win over Benedict. Stole seven passes during the game, turning the effort into enough points to mean victory.

Henry Heider, Ravenna — Scored 21 points to lead Ravenna to its first victory of the season, a 65-61 upset of St. Paul.

Robert Schardt, Deshler — Playing in his first varsity game as a sophomore, paced Deshler's 64-51 win over Blue Hill with 16 points.

David Lipovsky, Sandy Creek — Another pressure player. Lipovsky hit a bucket with just four seconds remaining to give Sandy Creek a 58-57 triumph over Hebron. He finished with 19 counters for high point honors.

Harv Frost, Lexington St. Ann — Tallied 28 points in pacing St. Ann's to an overtime, 63-62, victory over Medicine Valley.

Max Bergen, Sutton —With the score tied, Bergen scored two of his 17 points at the buzzer to provide Sutton with a 51-49 win over Adams Central.

Ritch Bahe, Fremont — Hit on three consecutive baskets to turn a close game into a runaway against Norfolk. Scored 24 in all during the 63-48 win.

Chapin Named Chairman Of Stuart Enterprises' Board

James Stuart, president of Stuart Enterprises, announced Wednesday the election of Richard W. Chapin as his successor. Stuart will become chairman of the board.

Stuart Enterprises, known as Stuart Investment Company until 1966, owns KFOR radio and five other AM radio stations in the midwest, three Imperial outdoor advertising plants, two newspapers in North Dakota and Minnesota and the Stuart Office Building in Lincoln, and holds the Lincoln K-Mart Shopping Center lease.

RICHARD CHAPIN
Named To New Post

Chapin, a Lincoln native, graduated from the University of Nebraska in 1947. He worked as assistant general manager of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce until 1953, when he went to work for KFOR radio-television.

He became general manager of KFOR and later was elected vice president and assistant secretary-treasurer of the Stuart Investment Company following the sale of the television station. He has served as executive vice president since 1964.

Chapin has served as vice-chairman and chairman of the National Association of Broadcasters Radio Board, director-at-large of the National Association of Broadcasters and board member of the Radio Advertising Bureau. In 1969 he was honored as a "Distinguished Nebraskan in Broadcasting."

Chapin has been chairman of Pershing Municipal Auditorium board since its inception in 1956. He was elected to the Lincoln Airport Authority in 1969. He is a board member of the National Bank of Commerce and the Clarke Bank in Papillion.

He is also a member of the Lincoln Diabetic Council, and has served on the Community Chest, Red Cross and March of Dimes campaigns, the Governor's Council for Better Education and Educational Television and the Traffic safety program.

Chapin was the 1956 recipient of the state "Outstanding Young Man" award in recognition of his community service.

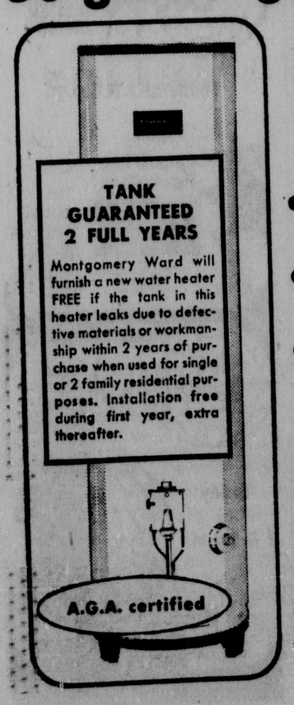

Sidney Finally Tops Fund Drive

Sidney (AP) — Sidney has finally completed one of the few United Fund drives in history to achieve its goal.

The 1970 goal of $12,200 was passed after being given up earlier as a lost cause.

For the last several years the United Fund has failed to reach its goal, but members of the board trimmed the budget below the budget of previous years but left it above the amount actually raised in 1969.

Soviets, Red Chinese Resume Negotiations

©The New York Times

Moscow — The Soviet Union and Communist China have resumed negotiations in Peking, a Soviet government spokesman said Tuesday.

The announcement put an end to growing speculation on the status of the talks which began nearly four months ago.

Leonid M. Zamyatin, head of the press department of the foreign ministry, in answer to questions at a news conference said it was "too early" to assess the progress of the latest round of negotiations which began Oct. 20 and were recessed for three weeks when First Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov returned to Moscow.

Kuznetsov flew back to Peking Jan. 2, but, until Zamyatin's disclosure, there had been no official word on whether the talks had actually resumed. Because of the renewal of polemics since the new year began, some diplomats had been speculating that the talks might have broken down.

Stock Mart Drifts To Lower Ground

New York (AP) — The stock market fluttered to lower ground in moderate trading Tuesday after moving up and down within a narrow range most of the day.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials — a blue chip stock barometer — lost 2.51 or .31% to 788.01, but broader based indices showed slight gains.

"The general market continued drifting down, but a handful of funds bought a handful of so-called glamor growth stocks which had good gains," said Eldon Grimm of Walston & Co.

Among them:

Memorex rose 6¾ to 163, Burroughs Corp. 5% to 172¾, National Cash Register 3⅝ to 166½, Honeywell 3 to 144, Disney Productions 6 to 145 and Avon Products 8 to 183.

Trading had been slow early in the day but picked up to close at a moderate 9.88 million shares, largely a result of institutional trading.

Litton Industries was the most-active on the Big Board, with a turnover of 264,400 shares including a 92,400 share block at 30. The stock closed at a new low for the year of 29½, off 1⅞.

There were 43 blocks of 10,000 shares or more traded on the day, compared with 40 on Monday. The blocks were larger Tuesday, however, the biggest being 136,200 shares of Carrier Corp., third most-active Big Board stock, off 1¾ at 31¼.

The AP 60-stock average declined along with the Dow, losing .8 to 272.3, with industrials off 1.6, rails up .3 and utilities off .9.

But broader-based indices showed gains.

The New York Stock Exchange index of some 1,200 common stocks rose 0.03 to 51.44 and Standard and Poor's 500 stock index gained .09 to 91.79.

Declining major categories included steels, rubber issues, aircrafts, metals, oils, airline, and building materials. Mail order-retail and tobaccos gained.

The American Exchange price index gained 1 cent, with declining stocks outnumbering advances by 445 to 405. Volume grew to 4.6 million shares from 3.41 million on Monday.

Of the 20-most active issues, 12 dropped, 7 advanced, and 1 was unchanged.

Health Board Hears Jensen

Lester Jensen, director of the City-County Health Department's division of public health education, briefed the City-County Health Board on the functions and operations of his division at a regular meeting of the board Tuesday night.

The presentation was part of a continuing series of briefings intended by department Director Dr. George Underwood to increase the board's technical understanding of the department's various community health activities.

A quarterly restaurant report, including restaurant ratings, was postponed due to the death in an auto accident of the department's sanitation director, Carl Royer.

The resignation of Martha Kroese, a nurse, was approved by the board, as was the employment of her successor, Mrs. Margaret Schainost.

Cattle Trading Is Slow

Omaha (AP) — A slow trade continued to keep the market on slaughter cattle in check at Omaha Tuesday.

The selective buyer inquiry on fed steers and heifers remained a dominant factor in the trade, despite continued firm prices in carcass beef markets.

It was a steady to instances 25 lower trade for steers and heifers. The declines were noted mainly on heavier steers in-between quality heifers.

Bulls traded steady, as did a few feeder cattle, bulk of the latter being held for Friday's auction.

Dressed beef prices Monday shaped up 50 cents to instances 1.00 higher with the larger upturn noted, oddly enough, on heavier weight carcasses. Heifer beef traded steady to 50 higher. Early trade at Chicago Tuesday showed choice beef adding another half cent per pound. However, liberal movement of cattle in the country over the week end left most buyers fairly well supplied for their week's slaughter needs and allowed a more selective buying stance.

EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

Critics Of No-Load Funds Lack Knowledge, Integrity

By Merryle S. Rukeyser

The selfish broker who knocks no-load funds as a group unwittingly characterizes himself as lacking in knowledge and integrity.

It's true that he can't make a dime out of the no-load funds since there is no provision for sales expense.

In the Lipper box score of mutual fund performance in the dismal year 1969, only 19 bucked the adverse markets and showed a gain in asset value. Included in the 19 were five no-load funds, including Loomis-Sayles Canadian, Scudder International Investment, T. Rowe Price Growth, David L. Babson, and Johnston Mutual. The average size of the gainers in 1969 was less than half that of the 25 leaders in 1968.

A comparison of performances during the two years indicates that many of the stars of 1968 fell on their faces in 1969. This indicates that, while a record of past performance and of the reputation of the managers is important, the forecasting value of such data is limited.

It is certainly legitimate for reputable funds, who send out salesmen to convert wasters into savers, to be paid for their efforts. The amount of the load varies. No-load funds are discussed here because no one is paid to ballyhoo them. Other quality financial services which are undersold are common trust funds, fiduciary (or trust) services, annuities, custodial services of banks, and professional investment counsel.

Consolidated Thinking

One of the salient characteristics of the sucker in Wall Street is failure to relate individual transactions to the totality through consolidated thinking.

MERRYLE RUKEYSER

19 Showed Gain

Thus, the value of financial intangibles, including shares and bonds, depends on the survival of private capitalism. The ultimate worth of private property hinges on public approval of the system, and on respect for law and order and due process.

Dick Gregory, the humorist, in a lecture at the University of Alabama, which was telecast, said that to white people the Constitution basically means the protection of property and to blacks the protection of human beings.

This is putting in contemporary dress the Marxian cliche that sets human rights against property rights.

Precious Privilege

Such a distinction, however, is antithetical to the American economic system, which regards the privilege of owning property, including a home, a basic human right. Saving for the future is a precious human privilege. The privilege in retirement to have income from interest and dividends, from Social Security, private pensions, savings accounts, shares, bonds and mortgages is a basic human right.

Even the impecunious — those without saved assets — benefit indirectly from property rights. The original Henry Ford, in amassing a colossal private fortune, used most of it for the benefit of others outside his immediate family to finance mass production, which enabled him to sell autos at a price that increasing numbers could afford.

The investment in central power stations, water viaducts, and the engines of mass production makes possible the affluence which has been achieved here. If property rights are lost in a sea of anarchy, even the "poor", who depend on welfare, will be harmed.

(Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to receive inquiries from readers concerning their financial problems. Letters with stamped, self-addressed envelopes should be sent in care of The Lincoln Star. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column. Others, to the extent time permits, will be handled by mail.)

Soybean Futures' Gains Are Erased By Profit Taking

Chicago (AP) — A late wave of profit taking and apparent speculative liquidation virtually eliminated early gains in major commodity futures on the Chicago Board of Trade Tuesday.

Trade appeared to have been mixed, with public interest fairly high in the soybean complex. Most of the activity was concentrated in the complex.

Soybeans futures opened on a strong tone and bulled ahead to an advance of 1½ cents. Soy oil and meal futures maintained buyer interest, with meal advancing around 150 points. But at this point, profit taking moved into the soybean pit, then oil weakened. Subsequently, a late wave of selling in the beans pit sent nearly all options lower, with nearbys down ¾ of a cent.

Some trade reports that winter wheat might have suffered damage from ice and accumulated snow in recent days influenced buying of wheat futures.

When grain trade ended wheat was unchanged to ⅝ cents a bushel higher, March 1.44⅞; corn was ⅛ to ½ lower, March 1.21; oats were ⅛ to ⅜ higher, March 65¼; rye was unchanged to 1⅛ cents lower, March 1.13½ and soybeans were unchanged to ¾ lower, January 2.50⅜.

Highs Noted By Provident Savings, Loan

Phil L. Sidles, president of Provident Savings and Loan Association, told stockholders Tuesday that during 1969, savings, assets, and mortgage loans outstanding reached their highest totals in the association's 62-year history.

Sidles said that the association placed more in the reserve funds than ever before and that the total assets of the association grew more than 7%.

The association had paid regular quarterly dividends on passbook savings accounts, fully paid certificates and 90-day notice accounts, he said.

He noted that the association had paid regular dividends on savings share certificates and that during the year, the Federal Home Loan Bank had authorized several changes and new types of savings programs to be offered by insured associations.

The association implemented each new program authorized by the Federal Home Loan Bank, and during the past year paid out more in dividends than ever before

In looking to the 1970's, Sidles emphasized one of the most critical needs of the community would be adequate and proper housing. Without the funds coming into the mortgage-lending institutions, the housing shortage would become more and more critical, he said.

Re-elected to the board of directors were W. H. Howey, Earl Carter, Carl W. Olson, Paul C. Schorr III, Jesse Williams, Frank C. and Phil L. Sidles.

Following the annual meeting, the board of directors re-elected Phil L. Sidles, president; Howey, vice president, and Frank C. Sidles, secretary-treasurer.

Washington (AP) — Sen. Roman Hruska, R-Neb., announced that Hastings College has been awarded a grant of $19,372 for research into the effects of induced PKU, a disease of children.

The grant is being made by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Assets Rise $1.4 Million At Havelock

Good farm crops and high employment in and around northeast Lincoln resulted in a very good year for Havelock National Bank, Emery Pont, executive vice president, said following the bank board's annual stockholders' meeting.

Total assets increased $1.4 million, from $7.8 million at the end of 1968 to $9.2 million Dec. 31, 1969. Deposits increased from $7.2 million to $8.4 million, and loans increased from slightly over $3 million to $3.9 million.

Wayne L. Matthes, cashier, was elected assistant vice president in addition to his present duties. Ray Osborn and Mrs. Victor Anderson were elected vice president. Roger L. Anderson was added to the board as an advisory director. A second assistant cashier, R. H. Harner, was also added to the bank's officers.

Other officers, all re-elected, are A. C. Eichberg, president and director; Emery Pont, executive vice president and director; Mrs. Bonnie Watts, assistant cashier; Howard Hadley and Robert E. Logsdon, directors.

Cornhusker Bank Reports 11% Rise In Assets

Cornhusker Bank registered an 11% growth in total assets during 1969, Board Vice President Alice M. Dittman said Tuesday following the bank's annual stockholders' meeting.

Over 90% of the bank's 2,000 outstanding shares were personally represented at the meeting, Mrs. Dittman said. Stockholders receive 5% dividends on their holdings.

Assets stood at $3,670,802 Dec. 31, compared with $3,261,306 at the end of 1968.

Deposits totaled $3,218,930, as compared to $2,859,492 a year ago. Loans increased from $1,613,468 to $1,801,459 during the same period.

All three figures represent records for the bank, which located just outside city limits in 1960 after operating in Davey for 58 years.

Cornhusker Bank enjoyed an excellent year, Mrs. Dittman said, and anticipates a better year in 1970, thanks to the "rapid growth of our trade territory." The northward expansion of NU, the possible arrival of a new "mystery industry" northeast of town, many new housing starts, and the completion of new apartment units should all contribute to the bank's continued growth, she said.

The banks officers and board remain the same for 1970. G. A. Frampton will serve as president and board chairman. Other officers are Cecile Frampton, James Mastera and Mrs. Dittman, vice presidents; Larry Bazata, cashier; and Elton H. Gibson, assistant cashier.

Re-elected to the board were G. A. Frampton, chairman; Robert E. Frampton, vice chairman; Mrs. Dittman, secretary; Cecile Frampton, Norman Bulling, Forest P. Hutson, A. Leicester Hyde, Robert McGill, John W. Stewart and Karl A. Witt.

Citizens Bank Reports 'Very Good Year'

Citizens State Bank had a "very good" year in 1969 and anticipates 1970 "with enthusiasm," Percy Mays, chairman of the board and chief executive officer, said Tuesday after the board's annual stockholders' meeting.

He attributed an 8% growth in deposits to new industries and the general growth of northeast Lincoln.

Deposits increased from $8.9 million at the end of 1968 to $9.6 million December 31, 1969. This years' loan total was $4.4 million, also an increase over last year. Total assets increased from $9.6 million to $10.5 million over the same period.

Citizens State's capital account increased from $702,205 to $802,742, reflecting a net profit of approximately $.1 million, Mays said. Stockholders received a special dividend of 1½% in addition to the regular dividend.

The board re-elected the same officers for 1970. A new installment loan office was created and filled by the election of Lyle Nelson.

Officers re-elected were George W. ("Bus") Knight, president; Mays; Charles E. Knight, vice president and cashier; State Sen. John E. Knight, vice president; Clarke R. Gellermann, assistant cashier and auditor.

Police Evacuate 250

Maerdry, Wales (UPI) — Police evacuated 250 persons from this tiny Welsh village because of flood danger caused by a seven-foot long hole in a nearby reservoir dam. Local officials said firemen were using pumps to reduce the level of water in the reservoir and there was "no need for panic."

College Declines Flannel Slacks

Newberg, Ore. (AP) — A Pennsylvania clothing manufacturer which sells by mail offered to Mr. G. F. College of Newberg two pairs of flannel slacks, "sure to please."

Frank Cole, dean of administration at George Fox College, declined the offer. "Slacks to cover our campus would create a problem to you," he wrote.

Aluminum goes into everything from airplanes to beer kegs, from skyscraper walls to kitchen foil, from sea-going ships to automobile radiators, from bridges to bottle caps.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.

Public Can Suggest Changes

Constitution Revision

Is there some change you'd like to see made in Nebraska's basic legal document, the State Constitution?

If so, Robert E. Barnett, legal counsel for the Nebraska Constitutional Revision Commission, has a request:

Send all suggestions to him at Post Office Box 94712, Statehouse Station, Lincoln.

Because of a lack of time and money, Barnett said, the commission cannot hold a series of meetings across the state to solicit citizen recommendations and still have its report ready for the Legislative Council this fall.

Barnett said it would be easy for the state's citizens to "sit back after we're done and criticize what we came up with, but we'd much rather have them help us draft our proposals."

Letters inviting citizen suggestion are being sent to weekly, semi-weekly and daily newspapers; the president of each association as listed in the Bluebook; state senators and radio and TV stations.

The commission, headed by State Sen. Ramey Whitney of Chappell, has held some public hearings in Lincoln and will request public testimony once its recommendations are formed.

The commission has divided itself into subcommittees and Barnett said he has been assigned nearly 50 subjects to research. Private law firms have been contributing research assistance, he said.

So far, Barnett said, the commission has not reached any conclusions on what it will recommend to the 1971 Legislature. The Legislature will study the recommendations and submit any or all to state voters.

Two Sentenced For Robbery Of Brady Bank

North Platte — The Lincoln county attorney said the two men sentenced to 15-year prison terms in Portland, Ore., for the burglary of the Bank of Brady, Neb., were tried on the West Coast by their own option.

Walter R. Mullikin said Clarence William Byrd, 48, and Danny James Ward, 24, under federal law could elect the location of their trial

They were apprehended in Portland. Millikin said the two men were also convicted of bank robberies in Oregon and South Dakota.

The FBI in Omaha said a third man charged in connection with the Brady burglary is Robert Owen McDonnell.

McDonnell is in the Nebraska Penal Complex awaiting trial. No trial date has been set.

Newsletter Is Inaugurated by Law Commission

The Nebraska Commission on Law Enforcement and Criminal Justice has launched a monthly newsletter to keep law enforcement agencies better informed about the commission's activities and programs.

Walt Weaver, the commision's executive director, said 1,600 copies of the first issue of the newsletter, "Outline," were mailed this month.

They went to sheriff and police departments, judges, county attorneys, mayors, county boards and the regional crime commissions.

In addition to the commission's activities of interest to local law enforcement agencies, Weaver said the newsletter hopes to disemminate other information, such as schools and seminars, technical assistance on federal programs, law enforcement developments in other states and state and local activities of general interest to all law enforcement agencies.

County Boards Can't Insure

By United Press International

County boards do not have the authority to purchase liability insurance protecting employes for clerical and accounting errors, the State Justice Dept. said Monday.

In an opinion requested by Dixon G. Adams of Papillion, the Sarpy County attorney, the attorney general's office also said counties do not generally have authority to satisfy tort judgments against county officials.

Going to move soon? Be sure to notify the Circulation Department, giving both your old and new address.

Cornelius Says He Rejected HUD Job Offer

Samuel J. Cornelius, state technical assistance agency director, says he has turned down an offer to become deputy director of the Kansas City regional office of the U.S. Housing and Urban Development (HUD) Dept.

The Kansas City office supervises HUD activity in Nebraska, Kansas, Iowa and Missouri.

Cornelius said he thought he had been under consideration for the directorship and was interested in that slot.

"I'm miffed" that the director's post wasn't the job bid exceeded, Cornelius said.

Sears Lab Tests Prove Kenmore Detergent 5-Ways Better Than Other Brands tested

1 Better because Kenmore removes dirt more thoroughly! Kenmore has twice as much CMC (Carboxymethyl Cellulose) which suspends dirt in rinse water, so your laundry comes dazzling clean!

2 Better because Kenmore Detergent has Soda Ash to attach stubborn grease spots and stains.

3 Better because super-concentrated Kenmore lets you use ¼ less detergent per wash. An average family gets over 97 washings!

4 Better for your wash because it out-performed other brands tested in hard or soft water, and in any water temperature.

5 Better for your washer because the extra low suds content allows freer spin, better rinsing, and eliminates suds buildup problems.

New York (AP)—The stock market drifted into a mixed state in slow trading Tuesday afternoon, with declines only slightly ahead of advances.

"There's very little buying incentive and not much selling pressure," commented Larry Wachtel, Bache & Co. vice president.

The bulk of the investment community is on the sidelines awaiting something, perhaps for President Nixon's State of the Union address and budget message later this month, he added.

Rhinos Quarrel, Cause Damage

St. Louis (AP) — When the St. Louis Zoo's pair of white rhinoceroses, Dinka and Joyce, have a domestic tiff, something's got to give.

When they had a quarrel in 1966, Dinka lost one of his 29-inch horns when he charged Joyce and missed, then ran into a wall.

Earlier, Dinka lost patience with his 6,000-pound mate, picked her up on his regenerated horn and tried to throw her through the bars of their cage.

He didn't but Joyce's bulk bent some of the thick steel bars of the pen. Joyce came out of it with minor abrasions.

Old Custom

Chicago (AP) — The custom of sending Valentine Day missives began about 1400.
